Yank Units Drive On, Cong Wilts

Face Small Arms In Squeeze Play

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP — Three big American squeeze plays against the Viet Cong in the central plains, mountain ridges and paddies moved forward today in the face of heavy small arms fire but apparently failed to trap any sizeable units.

The tripleplay, however, has cleared areas in the past 24 hours, killed dozens of Viet Cong and compelled the enemy to wilt before slow, steady pressure.

Stirs Sniper Fire

The airmobile cavalry working around Bong Son on the coast stirred up stiff sniper and small arms fire this morning, a repeat performance of Friday's heavy engagements when the troopers landed by helicopter. Two companies of an element of battalion size were engaged as they lifted to a new landing zone and one helicopter was shot down. It was extracted safely.

In the past 24 hours, 13 Viet Cong were killed and 5 captured, bringing the total for Operation Masher to 50 killed, 11 captured and 134 suspects detained. U.S. casualties were recorded as light.

Eight Cong Killed

Further south, in Phu Yen Province, the 101st Airborne Brigade, which experienced heavy contact Friday encountered only sporadic and scattered small arms fire. The paratroopers counted eight Viet Cong killed but a spokesman said there may have been many more.

"They (the enemy apparently retain the ability to drag their dead away, "the army officer said.

The multiple-company Viet Cong units known to be in the neighborhood appear to have broken up into small groups trying to escape entrapment. Together with South Korean marines, the airborne brigade has killed 47, ten by air assaults, in three days.

Marines Use Tanks

U.S. Marines scouring outside Da Nang used tanks, searchlights, platoon patrols of about 30 men, helicopters and firepower to flush out small bands of Viet Cong. The daily battle of attrition added seven more Viet Cong killed and five captured since Friday morning.

Heavy American attacks from the air were highlighted by an assault by 33 Air Force F100 Supersabres in the Mekong Delta, which is the only corps area policed entirely by South Vietnamese troops. An Air Force spokesman said the strikes against Viet Cong positions about 25 miles southwest of Can Tho destroyed more than 100 buildings, damaged 150 and set off explosions which could have been fuel or ammunition dumps blowing up.

Named Runner-up In Oratory Contest

A senior at Academy of St. Ursula, Catherine Ann Stall, was runner-up in the highly competitive Ulster County American Legion oratorical contest Friday afternoon at Highland Central School, won by a Wallkill Central School senior. Miss Stall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wiliam R. Stall, of Rolling Meadows, was the recent winner of the CYO competition in Ulster County.

Top honors went to Lawrence Holland of Wallkill, who was named the Ulster County champion of the American Legion national oratorical contest for 1966. Holland topped the field of contestants representing Kingston High School, Academy of St. Ursula, New Paltz Central School and Wallkil Central School in the yearly competition. His win earned him the honor of representing Ulster County in the Third District championship competition to be held at Westmere High School, Albany, Sunday, Feb. 6, at 2 p. m.

The senior orator and new champion is the son of Charles Holland of Wallkill and plans to study law upon his graduation from high school in June. His winning oration was a 10-minute talk on, Our Constitution, the Depositor of Democracy and Liberty.

Third place honors went to Mis Karen Hasbrouck of New Paltz Central School. Another Kingston girl, Linda Policano, junior at Kingston High School, was also entered in the contest.

Officials of the local American Legion have announced that Kingston High School will be the site of the zone competition of winners and runners-up in the Third District and Fourth District competition scheduled next month. The public will be invited to attend this battle of words on Saturday, Feb. 26 in the high school auditorium. Kingston Post 150 will act as host for the occasion.

The three top winners in the Ulster County competition yesterday afternoon received checks in the amounts of $15, $10 and $5 respectively.

Nab Greene Man; Charge Kidnap Try

A Greene County man, arrested Friday on a felony charge of first degree assault and attempted kidnaping, was in Greene County Jail today to await preliminary hearing on the charges on Monday.

Churchill Harvey Proper, 38, of Prattsville, arrested by state police from the Leeds substation, demanded the examination at his arraignment before Peace Justice George Carl.

Gilboa Girl Involved

Troopers arrested Proper in the alleged pistol whipping and attempted kidnap of a 20-year-old girl from Gilboa in Schoharie County. The girl suffered deep head lacerations apparently from the pistol whipping, although she and a companion seated in a car with her when the assault occurred, escaped further injury when a firearm held by Proper, discharged.

Troopers from the substation gave this account. They said the girl, whose identity was not disclosed, was driving her car on Route 28 in the Town of Prattsville, with a male companion as passenger, when the car was stopped by a man, later described as Proper, the alleged assailant.

They said that Proper tried to force the girl from her car into his and that when she resisted, he struck her in the head with a fully loaded .22 caliber Ruger revolver. Troopers said that during the scuffle, the firearm discharged, sending a shot into the air. However, they said, neither the girl or her companion was struck by the bullet.

Managed Escape

Troopers said that the girl and her companion managed to escape when a school bus came up the road and Proper was arrested later by State Police based

Dismisses Pleas for More Talk

Had Only Hostile Response to Lull

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has dismissed an appeal by 16 Democratic senators for further consultation on whether to resume air strikes on North Vietnamese targets.

He said "it is increasingly clear that we have had only a hostile response to the present pause in bombing North Viet Nam." But he pledged "unflagging pursuit of peace" and gave no indication when a decision on resuming the air strikes would be made.

Cited Resolution

Johnson's reply Friday cited a 1964 congressional resolution which gave him broad powers to "repel armed attacks on U.S. forces and to repel armed aggression."

"I continue to be guided in these matters by the resolution of Congress approved on Aug. 10, 1964," Johnson said in a letter to Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., a principal author of the letter to Johnson Thursday in which the 16 senators said "we believe you should have our collective judgment before you, when you make your judgment" on resuming the bombing.

The senators also endorsed statements opposing resumption of bombing which have been made during the past two weeks by Sens. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee; Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the Democratic leader; and George D. Aiken, R-Vt.

Hartke indicated he was disappointed with Johnson's reply. But he said he would have no comment until he had "discussed the note with the other senators who signed our letter" and with Fulbright.

Made A Point

Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., who also signed the letter, said he believed the senators "made our point in our letter." He said he did not consider the 1964 resolution "as a general endorsement of our Viet Nam policy."

McGovern also said: "We expressed our views to the President and he knows our position is clear. I don't take his note as any indication he's decided to resume bombing of North Viet Nam, simply that he's leaving the options open."

But Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, one of 20 congressional leaders who attended a bipartisan White House briefing Tuesday night, said he regards as inevitable a presidential decision to resume the air attacks on North Viet Nam.

"What are you going to do

Seven Hurt, 2 Are Cited In Mishaps

Several persons were injured and a number of drivers were cited for traffic violations in city and county traffic accidents Friday.

Three persons were injured in two city accidents.

Theresa Misasi, of 208 Downs Street, suffered right side injuries when she was struck by a car about 4:45 p. m. at John and Wall Streets.

Pedestrian Is Hurt

Police said that David Smith Jr., 28, of 210 O'Neil Street was operating a 1964 model pickup owned by Mosher's Delivery Service. They said he was crossing the intersection with the green light and the pedestrian crossed in front of the vehicle, making slight contact with the bumper. The accident was reported to Patrolman Ernest Bartroff.

Two other drivers were to see their own doctor after a three-car chain reaction mishap about 4:10 p. m. near 731 Broadway.

Donald J. Rothrock, 44, of 33 Village Drive, Saugerties, complained of a possible neck injury, while Juston Rios, 70, of 27 Prince Street, suffered neck and chest injuries.

Three Cars Damaged

Police said that Rothrock was stopped in a line of traffic to make a left turn into a driveway at the Broadway address. They said that Rios was stopped in traffic behind when a third car operated by Robert White, 22, of Box 216, East Kingston, struck the Rios car in the rear causing that vehicle to strike the Rothrock car.

Patrolman George Dougherty investigated.

In county accidents:

Joseph Wadagnolo, 20, of Red Apple Lane, Catskill, was taken to Kingston Hospital for cuts to the face, legs and left hand, in a one-car accident about 1:55 this morning on Route 9W in the Town of Saugerties.

State Police at Lake Katrine also issued him a summons for failure to keep right. They said that Wadagnolo was driving north on Rt. 9W when he fell asleep, causing his 1959 model sedan to leave the west shoulder of the road and strike a fence and tree with the front end of the vehicle.

The mishap, which occurred about .3 of a mile south of Rt. 32, was investigated by Troopers Fred Cooper and Fred Hungerford.

Driver Is Cited

Another motorist was cited for a violation and he and two other persons suffered injuries in a two-car collision earlier Friday on Rt. 209 near Spring Glen in the Town of Wawarsing.

State Police at the Ellenville substation said that Judith Kadlec, 24, of Ellenville, was driving south on Rt. 209 when her car collided with a vehicle operated by Joseph Krawitz, 67, of Spring Glen, which entered the highway from old Rt. 209.

Troopers cited Krawitz for failure to yield right of way. They said that Kadlec woman suffered cuts to the lip, head, elbow, hand and knee. They said

Find Local Man's Body on Street; Autopsy Ordered

Ulster County Coroner William S. Keyser withheld a verdict today in the death of a Kingston man after a motorist's car apparently rolled over his body shortly before 3 a. m. on East Chester and Mead Streets.

The victim, August C. Bruns, 67, of 332 Clifton Avenue, was pronounced dead on arrival in Kingston Hospital where he was taken by Fatum's ambulance. He suffered head and body injuries.

Was on Ground

Coroner Keyser told The Freeman that based on preliminary investigation it was reasonable to assume that the victim was on the ground when the body was struck by the vehicle. An autopsy was scheduled today in Kingston Hospital.

Police said that William Pretsch, 22, of Box 379, Route 1, said he was driving his 1964 model convertible north on East Chester Street when the vehicle struck something he believed to be a piece of frozen snow in the street near Mead Street. He stopped and upon finding it was a man, immediately notified police.

Patrolmen Thomas Coffey and Patrick Colbert investigated and were joined in the investigation by Detectives Leonard Ellsworth and John Crespino, along with Coroner Keyser.

If the death is ruled a traffic accident, it will be the county's 10th such fatality of the year, and the third involving a pedestrian. It also would be the city's first traffic fatality of the year.

Came Here in 1929

A native of Germany, Mr. Bruns came to this country in 1929 and had resided in Maple Hill before moving to Kingston permanently in 1953. He had recently retired from employment at the Feeney Boatyard. A widower, his wife, the former Olga Trimpert, died in January, 1965.

Surviving are three sons, Max and Alfred Bruns of Kingston, and Irving Bruns of Hurley; three grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews. Funeral services will be held from Frank H. Simpson Funeral Home, 411 Albany Avenue, Kingston, Tuesday at 2 p. m. The Rev. John H. Frensen, pastor of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Montrepose Cemetery. Friends may call Sunday from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. and Monday from 7 to 9 p. m.

MICHAEL J. QUILL

Quill Succumbs Short Days After Career's Climax

NEW YORK (AP) — Labor leader Michael J. Quill liked to think of himself as an Irish ogre, a sort of "elder statesman of public monsters."

His favorite spot was in the midst of a storm, oftentimes whipped up by his own choleric temperament.

His career led him from the Irish rebellion as a teen-ager down into the subway tunnels cut through Manhattan's rocky foundation, then up to lead the subway workers into the powerful AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union.

Through it all, like a dyspeptic leprachaun, Quill wielded his tongue like his ever-present blackthorn stick. He could charm a friend — or tear the hide off an opponent with his acid wit.

He was roly-poly, had a fringe of gray hair around his bald head, and peered at the world through horn-rimmed glasses.

In a dozen cliffhanging contract negotiations Quill had threatened to lead his members into strike. But he never did until this year.

Three days after he called the New Year's Day walkout of bus and subway workers in New York City, he was stricken at the civil jail. He and eight other union leaders had been taken there under arrest for defying a State Supreme Court injunction prohibiting the strike.

The strike lasted 12 days and cost the city an estimated billion dollars. Quill was released from custody at Bellevue Hospital and vowed to be around for many more contract negotiations.

Death overtook the fiery labor leader Friday at the age of 60. He died in his 37th-floor apartment at 15 E. 72nd St.

Dr. Hyman Zuckerman, his personal physician, said Quill died at 5:40 p.m. of a coronary occlusion. He said the attack was unrelated to the illness he

Williams Hits Reapportionment Ideas of Dems

A Saugerties Democratic Club resolution on reapportionment is in part inaccurate, misleading and obviously drafted by someone totally misinformed about the subject, Supervisor Peter M. Williams said today.

The Saugerties supervisor, long a proponent of equal representation for the Town of Saugerties issued a statement answering a resolution of the club this week calling for immediate county reapportionment.

Backing the above charges, Williams said:

"The resolution should be directed to the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, who as a body have the power to call for a study of reapportionment. I am 100 per cent for it and have made my stand on the proposal many times and on many platforms.

"I have been studying the implementation of the proposal at the county level for some time—since it became evident that reapportionment was also mandatory at the county level—and have attended meetings and workshops on the topic in Albany.

"The resolution, if there is

Dinner Honors 2 Retired Troopers

Some 100 friends and associates of two retired State Police sergeants turned out to honor them in a joint testimonial dinner Friday night in the Sky Top Restaurant.

The guests of honor were Sgt. Eric E. Winkky, well-known in the Kingston-Highland-Ellenville area, who retired last September after 28 years' service, and Sgt. Elliot P. Johnson, a Highland resident who retired last July after 25 years.

Among the guests attending, representing all ranks of state and county law enforcement, were Major Augustus T. Robeson, commander of Troop C, Sidney, in which both sergeants served; Lt. A. F. Van Blarcum, also of the State Police; Sheriff William B. Martin and District

2-Way Traffic On Clinton to Start Monday

Police Chief Robert F. Murphy asked today for the cooperation of the public when a 30-day trial of two-way traffic opens Monday on Clinton Avenue between John and Pearl Streets.

"In an effort to alleviate traffic congestion in the uptown business area," he said, "Clinton Avenue between John and Pearl Streets will be opened to two-way traffic starting Monday, Jan. 31, at 8 a. m. for a trial period of 30 days.

The chief suggested that caution and courtesy be used by all motorists driving on Clinton Avenue during the changeover in order to implement the new system as quickly and safely as possible during the trial period.

Freeman Pressman Retires; Logs 43 Years With Paper

A Freeman employe of almost 43 years logs in his last day today as the presses roll.

Percy Fairbrother of Port Ewen is retiring as pressman with the newspaper. He started with the firm as office boy in April, 1911, when the base of operations was shifted from Ferry Street to the present location on Broadway. He recalls that his pay at that time was $2.50 a week.

In August of that year he was assigned to the pressroom and continued in that capacity for five and a half years. For a brief time he was employed at Remington Typewriter Company in Ilion.

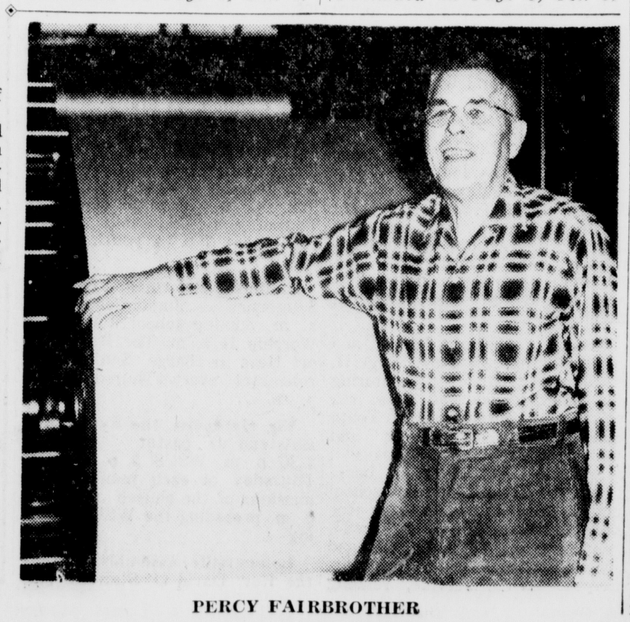

During World War I, he served in the U. S. Marine Corps Second Division with 15 months of overseas duty.

It was in October 1928 he returned to the Freeman as a pressman. A member of the Freeman Social Club and 20-Year Club, he was president of the latter several years ago.

Fairbrother is a native and lifelong resident of Port Ewen and a member of Port Ewen Reformed Church. He is married to the former Dora Vincent. They have a son, Vincent of Tillson and four grandchildren, Kevin, Michael, Peter and Ingrid Ann.

A hale and healthy 72, Fairbrother has not missed a day of work for illness since 1941. He is an avid gardener and he and his wife are seasoned travelers having toured extensively in this country and Canada. They went to Europe several years ago also. Fairbrother says he has no immediate plans for his retirement which begins officially Feb. 1.

Fellow members of Kingston Local 299, Printing Pressmen and Assistants of North America recently honored him with a dinner party at Judie's Restaurant. He was presented with a gift certificate.

PLAQUE FOR HOSPITAL—Robert M. Schnitzer, right, Kingston Hospital director, accepts plaque in honor of hospital's filling 2,000,000 prescriptions. Keith R. Christianson, Albany division manager for E. R. Squibbs and Sons, who made the presentation, noted that very few hospitals outside of the metropolitan area have issued that number of prescriptions. Also on hand for the award, held recently in conjunction with the opening of the new hospital wing, were (l-r) Louis J. The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

St. Martin de Porres had a beginning that has dragged many men down in despair, and yet his faith and works were such that he was canonized by Pope John XXIII in 1962.

Martin was born December 9, 1578 in Lima, Peru, the illegitimate son of a Spanish nobleman and a Negro woman from Panama. After his sister was born the father deserted mother and children. Rejected because of racially mixed blood, and living in squalid poverty, Martin could have found little basis for faith. Yet from an early age his love of people and love of service sustained him.

At the age of 12 he was apprenticed to a surgeon; his life ambition was to heal. At 15 he received the Holy habit of a Dominican tertiary or helper. Later he became a lay Brother of the First Order of St. Dominic and spent the rest of his life healing the sick, both physical and spiritual. No one called on him in vain, rich or poor, learned or ignorant, convict or citizen—red, black or white. They were all alike to him. His great pity for the ill and underprivileged and his passion for social justice has become known throughout the world. In 1939 on the Third Centenary of his death, the president of Peru decreed: "That Blessed Martin de Porres be considered Patron . . . of all works of social justice in Peru." He has been called "the Saint of Universal Brotherhood."

Youth Sunday To Be Marked at Comforter Church

In keeping with the national annual observance of the last Sunday in January as Youth Sunday, the senior youth fellowship of the First Presbyterian Church, Elmendorf Street and Tremper Avenue will conduct the service of divine worship at 11 a. m. Sunday.

Speaking on the day's theme, What Are We Waiting For, will be Marsha Suenram and Mary McCullough, while Larry Flowers will preside. Timothy Suenram will read the scripture lesson and offer the general prayer. Leading the responsive reading and the Apostles' Creed will be Judith Millham. For the special musical parts, a double duet will have Beth Askue, Ruth Lawrence, Diane Van Aken and Linda Wynkoop, singing Franz Apt's composition, Over the Stars There Is Rest; and Chester A. Baltz will offer trumpet solo of The Old Rugged Cross.

A feature of the service will be the ordination of Frederick H. Stang, former Mayor of Kingston, to the office of Ruling Elder and his installation with elders-elect Chester A. Baltz Jr., Walter H. Caunitz, and Ward B. Tongue, conducted by the minister, the Rev. William J. McVey. At the point of ordination the seven active Ruling Elders, namely, Irving S. Atwood, Chester B. Diffley, Howard Hornbeck, James F. McDonald, Donald Miller, Casper Souers, Melburn E. Suenram, with the minister, will lay their hands on Mr. Stang in token of their union and dedication with him in this important church office, to which he was elected by the congregation Jan. 13.

The musical program is under the direction of Miss Edna Merrihew, organist and choir director, who will play as prelude and postlude respectively, Vision by Rheinberger and postlude by Claussmann. The service is open to the public.

$1,800 FOR MOTHERS MARCH—Approximately $1,800 was collected in the annual Mothers March for Dimes this week. On hand for the preliminary counting are standing (l-r) Mrs. John Van Dine, Mrs. Charles Diamond, Mrs. Hubert Richter, Mrs. Lincoln Crosby, chairman of the march; Mrs. Martin Spiegel, Howard Stephens, Chapter president and Ronald Every. Seated (l-r) are Walter Colclough and Richard Nagele. Canvassers will continue collections, it was reported today due to the inability of some to visit homes because of the frigid weather. More than half of the total collections from the drive is used locally to support and offer assistance to children born with birth defects and for the purchase by the chapter of polio vaccine. The vaccine is donated to the Ulster County Health Department for use at children's clinics. The annual Mothers March also helps support the Dimes Birth Defect Treatment Center in Albany. Welfare Is Topic Of Panel Sunday At Fair Street

The program for the Adult Fellowship of the Institute of Christian Living at the Fair Street Reformed Church Sunday evening will consist of a panel discussion on the topic of The Church and the Welfare of Others. Members of the panel will be Mrs. Elmor Nathan, Mrs. Vernon Murphy, Miss Mary Polhemus and Donald Sweeney.

Mrs. Nathan is a school nurse-teacher at the J. Watson Bailey School, having worked for the past 10 years in the Kingston School system. She received her RN degree from Kingston Hospital School of Nursing and has also taken courses at Russell Sage and the State University at New Paltz.

Mrs. Murphy is a caseworker for the Ulster County Welfare Department whose basic responsibilities lie in the area of public assistance.

Miss Polhemus is presently principal of the Sophie Finn School and has served as principal of School No. 3 for eight years. Prior to that she has taught in schools in Port Ewen, Kingston, and Honolulu, Hawaii.

Donald Sweeney is principal of John F. Kennedy School and coordinator of the Basic Adult Continuing Education program (Economic Opportunity Act) in Kingston. Hs is a veteran of World War 2, and a graduate of White Plains Schools, State Teachers College in Oswego, having done graduate work in Albany, New York University and New Paltz.

The Rev. Edwin C. Coon, pastor of the local church, will moderate the discussion.

The evening's program begins at 7:15 following a short period of devotions with the youth fellowships of the church. A social hour and refreshments will follow.

Your Life and Mine

CLYDE HERBERT SNELL

Over a decade ago a government official in Colorado described the mining of Uranium in this way: "Spread a layer of white beans over the bottom of a tub. Toss in one or two blue beans. Cover the layer with a newspaper and repeat the operation until the tub is full. Now take a long hatpin, poke it down through the layers, and see how many blue beans you can hit. That's drilling for uranium!"

Two and one-half million tons of rock has to be processed in order to get four tons of uranium. In other words, it takes a lot of hard work and patience in order to produce this strangely potent metallic substance.

All of the things in life that are really worth while come hard. No one, for example, ever had a good education handed to him on a silver platter. It does not come that way. The kind of education that equips one adequately for a useful and satisfying life is available only by dint of hard work. And all those who are to pursue these prized goals of learning with effectiveness must be inwardly prepared to do battle against discouragements — for they are sure to come. They have to muster the determination to keep at it even when it seems as if not much progress is being made.

We speak of burning the midnight oil. This suggests application and sustained effort—the kind of self-discipline that labors on into the night while others take the easy way of slumber.

"And they while their companions slept
Were toiling upward in the night."

Then, too, the kind of faith that really counts is not easily acquired. It is wrought out of an inner determination to be true to the highest whatever comes. The faith that counts is the faith that can meet the tests in the sure knowledge that the good Lord has not deserted us even though the burdens are heavy and the going is hard.

Someone has said that "to have suffered much is like knowing many languages; it gives the sufferer access to many more people." The most effective inner equipment for service to others comes at a very high price. It takes real vision to be able to see that often pain and trial are the gruelling crucibles in which are wrought some of the most effective weapons of the spirit.

Fair St. Church Consistory Is Feted

Six retiring consistorymen were honored at the annual consistory dinner of the Fair Street Reformed Church Thursday at Williams Lake.

Some 58 people, most of them couples, representing the active consistory and members of greater consistory attended. After the dinner, the pastor, the Rev. Edwin C. Coon spoke briefly and awarded appropriately framed plaques to those men who have served during the past three years. Those plaques mark them as members of the greater consistory.

Those receiving the plaques were Deacons Arling Kalleberg who served as chairman of the church music committee during this past year; Stewart Farley Jr. who has served as church school superintendent, and Robert Brown who has just completed his term as chief deacon.

Elders receiving plaques were Robert Kennedy Jr. who has been an organizer of the church's stewardship canvass during his term of office, Howard J. Spaulding who has served as chairman of the staff committee during this past year, and Walter T. Tremper who has completed his term as senior elder and vice president of the consistory.

This year's chief deacon, Attorney S. James Matthews, although absent from the dinner, was responsible for its organization. He was assisted by Deacon William Miller.

Hour of Sharing Date Set by World Service

With experts forecasting 1966 as a year of mounting famine and other forms of social disaster, U. S. Protestant churches are preparing to meet heavy commitments in the field of overseas assistance.

A total of $17,921,000 will be sought by participating denominations through the annual One Great Hour of Sharing appeal, it was announced. Observed each year the week following the fourth Sunday in Lent (March 20 this year), funds raised by the congregations through the appeal are used for relief and rehabilitation purposes in Asia, Africa, Latin America, the Middle East and limited areas of Europe.

2 Area Priests Are Assigned to Mission Outposts

Two Kingston-born priests are among the dozen Redemptorists leaving JFK Airport Feb. 2 for various mission posts in Latin America.

The Rev. John Kiwus, CSsR, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kiwus of 14 South Wall Street, after making his final year of studies at St. Mary's Annapolis, Md., has been assigned to the Redemptorist Minor Seminary at Ponta Grossa in the Brazilian state of Parana, where he will spend several months studying the Portuguese language and Brazilian customs.

The Rev. John Fogarty, CSsR, brother of Leo Fogarty of 29 Abbey Street, is already a seasoned veteran of 17 missionary years in the Brazilian jungles. After three years in the United States recuperating from delicate surgey on the larynx, he is now assigned to the Caribbean area: either Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands.

Both men had their early schooling here in Kingston: Father Kiwus, at St. Joseph's Parish School, Father Fogarty, at St. Mary's. Both graduated fom Kingston High School, in 1954 and 1931 respectively. They made their studies in philosophy and theology at Mount St. Alphonsus, Esopus. Father Fogarty was ordained there in June of 1944 and Father Kiwus, two years ago.

One hundred and eighty other American Redemptorists, all trained at Mount St. Alphonsus, are at present in Latin America.

Dear Abby . . .

Up In Smoke!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband worked in his father's business for 25 years as a salaried employee. He was an only son, and his father always told him that when (Pop) retired, the business would be my husband's. Five weeks before Pop's 65th birthday, which was to be his retirement date, the business burned down, leaving my husband unemployed at the age of 43. When the fire sale was completed and the property disposed of, my husband held out his hand for his "share." His father asked "Did you put any money into the business?"

Of course, the answer was no. But, Abby, my husband put 25 years into it! And this is the same business that was going to be his in five weeks. What do you think of a deal like this?

FORT DODGE, IOWA

DEAR FORT DODGE: I think your husband "got the business."

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: My wife reads your column religiously, and I read it when she makes me. She has a 51-year-old brother we think should be married. He is good-looking, dresses well, drives an expensive car, has a secure job, money in the bank and a pleasing personality. There is nothing wrong with him, Abby. We have fixed him up with lots of dates. He always enjoys himself, but unless someone arranges a date for him he is just as happy being without one. I thought maybe you had a list of Lonely Hearts' Clubs we could draw from. We don't know any more eligible ladies he hasn't taken out. Thank you.

WANTING TO HELP

DEAR WANTING: Show me a good-looking 51-year-old bachelor with a secure job, pleasing personality, money in the bank, who dresses well and drives an expensive car, and I'll show you a man who can find his own wife. If he wants one, that is.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: Here is the background. Eleven years ago I married a widower with three sons and one daughter all under ten years old. Their father had seven housekeepers and none of them would stay, so the children were put in a home. Then he married me, and out of the home they came for me to raise. The daughter, who will soon be 21, is engaged to be married. She was impudent to me so I hit her. She hit me back and broke my eyeglasses. (She is five inches taller than me and at least 30 pounds heavier.) Her father witnessed the whole scene and didn't say a word, nor did he raise a hand to defend me. I told the girl she would have to pay for replacing my eyeglasses. She refused, so I took her charm bracelet to hold for security. She had her wedding invitations printed with only her father's name on them. I told him that for this humiliating deed he should not give her away at her wedding, but he says he is going to anyway and if I don't like it I can stay home. Should I go to the wedding?

HURT

DEAR HURT: No. And if I were you I'd see a lawyer about provisions for my old age. From what you tell me about your husband and his children, when you have outgrown your usefullness, there's no telling what may happen to you.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WONDERING" IN SAVANNAH: Yes, it is possible that he has forgotten that you owe him the money, but I would attribute his "never mentioning it" to his good taste rather than his bad memory. Emerson said, "Pay every bill like God wrote the bill." And I say, "Wise man, that Emerson."

Nazarene Pastors To Attend Annual Retreat Feb. 7-9

Nazarene church pastors and wives from this area are scheduled to attend the annual New York district Nazarene Preachers' conference at the Holiday Hills Y camp, Pawling, on Monday through Wednesday, Feb. 7-9.

The Rev. Thomas H. Younce, pastor of the First Nazarene Church of this city and the Rev. Oliver Wirth, pastor of the New Paltz Nazarene Church will be in attendance.

Nearly all 37 Nazarene Churches on the district will be represented. These churches have a total of about 2,500 members and a combined Sunday school enrollment of 4,200 persons.

Guest speaker will be Dr. Edward Lawlor, Kansas City, Mo., the executive secretary of the Department of Evangelism. Prior to his election to the denominational post, Dr. Lawlor was superintendent of a district in Canada. He also is a former pastor.

The program will be in charge of the district superintendent, the Rev. J. H. White, Yorktown Heights.

The Church of the Nazarene is the largest Protestant denomination that stands for scriptural holiness ir the Wesleyan tradition. It has a world membership of 425,000 in more than 5,000 churches.

It maintains about 600 missionaries in 46 countries.

World offices and a publishing house are in Kansas City. Mo.

The denominational radio program, "Showers of Blessing," is broadcast over more than 700 stations including 205 in Latin American countries.

Lumber Business Started As A Sideline

"I wonder how many people in the Kingston area realize" said, Frank Leone, President, the other day, that ISLAND DOCK LUMBER has been serving people in the area for over 60 years from the very same location. What now is its main and only business started out as only a side line, just after WORLD WAR I, when Island Dock went into the lumber business.

Until that time, it had been one of the biggest shipbuilding yards in the area when that was one of this section's largest activities. Since its inception the lumber business grew to such an extent that the shipbuilding phase was completely dropped in 1955, with the completion of a contract for refuse barges for the City of New York.

Today, it is one of the largest suppliers of building materials, including ready mixed concrete and lightweight building blocks in the area.

Its recent entry into the appliance field, makes it truly the "one stop shopping center" for building needs of every description.

"We still operate on the theory that taking care of our customers needs is our most important function", says Frank.

Activities of the Uptown Businessmens Assoc.

A planned program of cooperative advertising and promotion can enhance the value of individual store advertising, as shown by the experience of the Kingston Uptown Business Men's Association.

In some cases, the Association arranges for grouping individual advertisements under appropriate banners for special sales. It also plans and stages special events — such as last year's antique automobile show — and advertises them in the area. The aim is always to attract potential shoppers into the Uptown area. Whether or not they buy — and what stores they visit — after they get there is still decided primarily by the individual store advertising, window displays, merchandising, and reputation.

Officers of the Uptown Business Men's Association are: Francis H. Kolts, president; Stanley London and Fred Firstenberg, vice presidents, and Andrew J. McDermott, secretary-treasurer. Gordon Dew is chairman of the Promotion Committee. John R. Warren serves as executive director.

Other Association activities include "Shower of Prizes" promotions, the annual Halloween window painting contest for school students, underwriting the cost of decorative Christmas street lighting, and arranging for Santa Claus to appear at Santa's House in the Uptown area. The Uptown advertising is handled by Robert H. Saehloff and Henry P. Eighmey, pictured.

Prom-e-see's Land, Italian Style

Promise Land Restaurant? Where did you ever get a name like that for an Italian Restaurant? That's the question we are often asked about the "PL", as it is often referred to.

The "PL" was started back in the early 30's by John Misasi and Phil Corrado, Sr. at 254 Foxhall Avenue. The name Promise Land? Well, there are two legends about that. The area around Foxhall Avenue, Derrenbacher Street and Stephan Street, one legend contends, was called the Promise Land way back in the time when Indians were running around here. Before the area was developed with houses and businesses, it was used for holding fairs and as circus grounds, which partly lends the second legend.

An Italian family by the name of Promise (pronounced Prom-e-see) owned the property, and it was called Prom-e-see's Land. Naturally the English translation came out to be Promise Land.

Getting back to the formation of the restaurant though, John and Phil, Sr. started their neighborhood tavern soon after prohibition was repealed in the early 30's. They remained at the original location at 254 Foxhall Avenue until 1937 when the business was moved to its present location at 240 Foxhall Avenue.

In 1946 Mr. Misasi and Mr. Corrado purchased the land and building they occupied from Mr. Saviano and continued their little neighborhood tavern until 1954, when business was renovated and became a restaurant featuring Italian foods.

A partnership that had lasted almost 30 years was broken in 1961 by the death of Mr. Misasi. The business was then continued by a corporation consisting of Mr. Corrado, Mrs. Misasi and John S. Misasi, Mr. Misasi's son.

In October of 1963 "Jack" Misasi and his wife, Theresa, purchased the corporation and building and continued the business as it is known today featuring a full line of Italian and American cuisine, such as homemade manicotti lasagne, ravioli, Italian stuffed clams, shrimp scampi, etc. plus steaks, chops and sea food.

Mr. Corrado, who has been associated with the "PL" for over 35 years, is employed as the day bartender along with Mrs. Mary Misasi, Jack's mother who with Theresa and Jack prepare the homemade delicacies which the "PL" features.

Theresa and Jack are hopeful to continue their association with the "PL" for many years to come.

A Swimming Pool in the Wintertime?

Sure! Why not? Two seasons for the price of one! Skylark Pools, who advertise nationally each week in The Kingston Daily Freeman stress "swim" in summer, "skate" in winter; This is why you should buy a Skylark Pool now. They have the most skilled craftsmen and mechanics in the business and are anxious to keep them. During this "slow season" they must guarantee work for them. Skylark has installed more on-the-ground pools than any other company in America and have all the equipment and materials ready to go NOW! You can take advantage of their off-season prices and have all the fun of an out-door skating rink until swimming time. This way their crews are busy, you save hundreds of dollars, have an extra season of fun and everyone's happy. Did you see the Skylark Pool advertisement in yesterday's Freeman?

Attract Beautiful Wild Birds to Your Yard

. . . . also, did you see the national advertisement in last Tuesday's Freeman for wild bird seed bells? Attract beautiful wild birds to your yard with this big outdoor seed bell. It weighs one pound and is a complete, scatterproof feeding station that outlasts loose seed. It's easy to hang by its built-in wire and is all seed, no waste and is economical. It's a product from the Happy Pet Products, Inc. and is available in Grand Union and A & P Markets. Another national advertisement is scheduled for Tuesday, February 8. Watch for it in The Kingston Daily Freeman.

Open House at the New Ulster Library

The Town of Ulster Library, Morton Boulevard (Next to the Chambers School) will hold their Open House, tomorrow from 2 to 4 p. m. The public is cordially invited and refreshments will be served.

Questions and Answers About Advertising

Q—Every time I go into a drugstore, supermarket, or department store, I'm overwhelmed by the tremendous varieties and brands of products. Sometimes I'm at a loss which to choose. Why do we need so many varieties, and how can the average housewife like myself make an intelligent choice?

A—You have asked a penetrating question. It goes deep down into what we call the American way of life. Your question really hinges on the word "freedom." Specifically, your freedom to choose.

Let's look at the other side of the picture. The wife of an American foreign correspondent said that one difference between living in Russia and living in the United States is that in Russia you stand in line to get into a food store, while in this country you stand in line to get out of the store.

In a society strictly controlled by the government, you have a very limited choice of products, and quantities are restricted. So you stand in line., hoping that when you do get in, you'll find what you want.

Here, as you say, you are offered a bewildering array. If at times you find it hard to choose, think of the other side. Suppose you had no choice or little choice. No bewilderment, but lots of frustration.

How can you choose intelligently? Here's where advertising enters the picture. The manufacturers who use advertising to tell you about their products, picture them beautifully, to stimulate your appetite for them, demonstrate their benefits, and try to persuade you to buy their particular brands. The choice is yours. Is choosing difficult? Yes, but also exciting.

And then there is the satisfaction of knowing that whichever brand you have chosen, it's a good product because the maker who put his name on it and invested money in advertising to persuade you to choose it, stands behind it.

That's why in the American business world the most common expression is "The consumer is king." Actually, it should be "The consumer is queen."

LOAN SHARK MENACE

For the past quarter century, underworld elements have been using money obtained from narcotics, gambling and other illegal practices to finance usurious money lending. Today, loan sharking has mushroomed into a billion dollar-a-year business across the country.

Lending money rates that run as high as 2,000 per cent, loan sharks are corrupting legitimate companies and bleeding white hapless borrowers. Ironically, ineffective anti-usury laws in many states have helped the racket to flourish.

Many hard-pressed wage earners are caught in the vice, unable to meet the loan shark's outrageous interest rates and cowed by his threats of violence.

Kenneth B. Willson, president of the National Business Bureau, points out that the distinctly small-time "six-for-five" type of street-corner loan shark still abounds but the modern loan shark usually is not a furtive, cringing Shylock in a back alley, with a few dollars in his pocket. He is an underworld-connected bootlegger of large and small loans, the underling of a bold, resourceful criminal network.

A New York State Commission of Investigation study revealed that loan sharking has become a major and lucrative operation of the underworld and a principal avenue by which crime syndicates invade legitimate businesses.

In an endeavor to combat the loan shark, New York State passed a bill last year establishing the crime of criminal usury. Thus for the first time, loan sharking became a felony in New York with a violator facing a jail sentence, or a fine, or both.

Loan sharks do not advertise nor are they listed in any business directory. Their ready accessibility to borrowers is attributable chiefly to another cog in the money-lending apparatus—the "steerer", who may be a doorman, elevator operator, etc.

Debt-ridden consumers can avoid victimization by knowing something about the lender and his reputation. If in doubt, the borrower should check with the local Chamber of Commerce. Anyone who has fallen into the clutches of a loan shark should report his experience to the district attorney or the attorney general.

NO PAX AMERICANA

Secretary of State Rusk sat still for newsmen from London, Bonn, Paris, Rome and Washington the other day in an international television interview. He made one statement that touched upon a fundamental aspect of our involvement in Vietnam.

In response to a British reporter's question, Rusk said this: "It is not the purpose of the United States to impose a pax Americana around the world. We don't consider ourselves the gendarmes of the universe." It is good to hear a high administration official say this, even though his disavowal may not wholly quiet fears that peace everywhere on American terms comes uncomfortably close to being what Washington does seek.

This has long been a sore point with critics of U.S. policy. They note that, although we may disclaim any desire to force our will upon other peoples, what we do often tends to the conclusion that this is what we would like. It is a trap to avoid. We cannot be, in Rusk's phrase, "gendarmes of the universe."

WHERE WERE THE PICKETS?

Any time during the past month would have been an ideal time for a demonstration not against the United States but against the Hanoi regime.

It was that long and more since this country first halted bombing raids over North Viet Nam. For four days during the Vietnamese new year's celebrations our troops maintained a strictly defensive posture, although the Viet Cong's unilateral cease-fire did not include Americans.

In the meantime, presidential peace emissaries continued to scurry between Washington and a dozen world capitals seeking the diplomatic formula that could lead to an armistice.

Why did we not see a march on Washington, or at least a few pickets outside the White House, to dramatize support for these efforts of the government? Why no mass meetings putting a bit of pressure on the North Vietnamese who, as they themselves said, have been heartened by the activities of peace-loving American students?

Why indeed?

The silence of the past weeks has done more than the noisiest demonstration to expose the double standard of the Vietniks and to prove the shallowness, naivete and essential futility of their cause.

This is not to charge them with the blame for the failure of the peace offensive. They are not that important, and in any event a demonstration in support of the government at this stage would probably have counted for little in the international balance.

It would, however, have been a welcome gesture of moderation and conciliation at home and have gone far toward reversing the trend that seems to be driving Americans into two extreme camps.

Global View

By LEON DENNEN
Foreign News Analyst

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (NEA)—Two American scientists are reported to be working secretly for President Nasser on an Egyptian program to develop medium-range rockets ahead of Israel.

The Israelis, who see Nasser as their mortal enemy, have therefore decided to speed up the purchase of surface-to-surface missiles from France.

Add to this Saudi Arabia's purchase of supersonic jet fighters from Britain and little Jordan's acquisition of some 100 Patton tanks in the United States and you get a fair picture of the arms race in the Middle East.

There is strong evidence that the conflict between the Arab countries and Israel is warming up again. Yet diplomats are apparently so immersed in their private problems that they give little thought to the new crisis which is brewing on a much-greater scale.

If Viet Nam, Kashmir and Cyprus are precedents, the U.N. Security Council probably will not begin passing peace resolutions on the Middle East until after the shooting has started.

It was therefore refreshing for this writer to get the views of Dr. Simon Shereshevsky, Jerusalem's noted peace advocate, who is convinced that there can be a peaceful solution of the Arab-Israeli conflict.

Dr. Shereshevsky is head of the Ihud Association which was founded 25 years ago in Palestine by two distinguished Americans, Judah L. Magnes and Henriette Szold, to promote friendship between Jews and Arabs. The philosopher Martin Buber was Ihud's leader until his recent death.

In Dr. Shereshevsky's view, the main causes for growing war tension in the Middle East are the Arab refugee problem and the escalating arms race.

"I therefore propose," he said, "the creation, with the aid of the United Nations, of a combined refugee commission with close and equal participation of Arab and Israeli experts."

Every Arab refugee, whether wishing to return to Israel or to be settled elsewhere, should present his claim to such a commission and declare his wishes.

"The main aim of the proposal is the cooperation of Arabs and Israelis in the constructive task of settlement of hundreds of thousands of refugees by repatriation or re-settlement," Dr. Shereshevsky said

The vexing Arab refugee problem, he believes, has been "distorted and falsified." Once it is out of the way, Israelis and Arabs may be enabled to sit down at one table and talk of peace, concessions and their future as friendly neighbors.

Dr. Shereshevsky also urges the establishment of international armaments control through the United Nations, in co-operation with other countries, in order to lift the curtain of secrecy that shrouds the arms race in the Middle East.

He noted that the reasons behind the race are fear and suspicion. "In modern warfare, much depends on the surprise attack, the secret war preparations and the first blow."

Should the Arab states and Israel agree to international control of their arms — conventional and non-conventional — war tension in the Middle East would lessen and a first step forward co-operation between both sides will become possible.

Dr. Shereshevsky may be today a lone voice crying in the wilderness but, like another voice that once cried in the Judean desert, it is one of reason and sanity.

Dental Diseases Take Grim Toll Which Can Be Curbed

By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Most dentists in the United States are so busy these days that they are working at full capacity performing all services involved in providing Americans with the best dentistry in the world. Americans spend $2 billion a year for these dental health services.

Yet according to a survey completed a few years ago, using the year 1960, our people accumulated at least 700 million unfilled cavities.

Only 10 per cent of the children under 5 visited a dentist. Nearly one-third of all children 5 through 14 never visited a dentist, yet neglect in this age group can have serious consquences.

Almost one-third of all people 35 or over are without natural teeth. Periodontal disease, which causes half the tooth loss in our population, affects half our people by 50 and almost everyone by the time they are 65. Each year 20,000 people develop mouth cancer, and about 4,000 die because of it.

Surely these are awesome figures. Is there nothing we can do about it? Can't dental disease be prevented? Some think the answer lies in more education and higher incomes; some say concerted public action is necessary, .g., promoting universal fluordation of drinking water; while others raise a cry for more productive research, more dentists, more auxiliary personnel and hygienists with sufficient training to assume increased responsibilities.

Many people, in and out of government, feel that the bigger, over-all problem of preventing disease and maintaining good dental health of our people should be dealt with on a community, state and national level. But this is a highly controversial matter.

In these articles we're concrned with those recognized preventive measures in the year 1966 that we can employ to protect ourselves and our families from the ravages of dental disease.

"Now if We Can Just Build a Few New Gadgets Into Him!"

Washington News

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Expect a major sustained U.S. offensive in South Viet Nam to begin this spring.

The timing is set by the "date" on which the required additional combat troops are on the spot and worked in, the big U.S. intelligence network expansion is completed, the major new bases are ready and the supply-line bottlenecks ironed out.

(All this assumes, of course, that Ho Chi Minh rejects President Johnson's peace offers.)

Operations can't be expanded markedly until U.S. commanders are able to pin down exact information of VC mainline regiments, battalions and companies while they're assembling so as to catch them off balance.

This requires a substantial build-up and reorganization of intelligence operations.

PRESENT SUPPLY CHANNELS couldn't sustain the heavy continuous harassment against Ho's battalions in all four war areas at once with stepped-up numbers of U.S. units operating. Yet this is needed to get the VC off balance, so they're ripe for chewing up.

At present, ships off South Viet Nam may wait weeks to unload. There's a lack of warehousing. There can be a shortage of one type of equipment or anothed in the battalion, when ships loaded with these supplies are waiting to be unloaded.

Tiny, economically underdeveloped South Viet Nam hasn't the harbors, docks, roads, airstrips or warehouses to handle normal commerce adequately. Its facilities certainly have been in no shape to handle the more than 800,000 Vietnamese, United States, Australian, New Zealand and Korean troops in fast-moving battles spotted all over the sprawling 600 north-south miles of South Viet Nam.

THESE PROBLEMS ARE BEING CORRECTED. On the supply side, port and storage facilities are being built by forced draft. Roads are being improved. Air and helicopter transport is being expanded at a fast pace.

The intelligence operation is being revamped. Additional troops are on the way.

A major stage of this build-up is expected to be completed in late April or in May. But it may be June before the bugs are out and the operation running smoothly.

Bad weather won't halt the U.S. offensive. American commanders in the field have learned in the past two years that properly planned offensive operations in South Viet Nam need not be bogged down by monsoons (though monsoon operation does require more flexibility, and an ability to shift targets or times to meet the ertaic shifts in weather).

Business Week in Review

By JACK LEFFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite uncertainties of the Viet Nam war, President Johnson during the week sketched a glowing picture of the nation's economy.

"The American economic miracle" will continue through 1966, he said.

Rosy Picture

He made the rosy prediction in his economic message to Congress on Thursday. However, the statement was laced with words of caution about inflation.

Earlier in the week, Johnson sent to Congress a record $112.8-billion budget for the 1967 fiscal year, beginning next July 1. It would provide not only for financing the war in Southeast Asia and usual domestic programs but would also accelerate development of the "Great Society."

The tone was that the economy is strong enough so that Americans can have both ample guns and butter.

In the economic message, the President said: "Demand will continue to grow rapidly in 1966 and production will respond. The vigor of investment spending demonstrates strong business confidence. The rising defense needs of the federal government are an important force in the economy. State and local purchases will keep moving ahead. Rising consumer incomes will again largely be devoted to expenditures for better living."

Gave Outline

He gave this outline of government economic policy: "To attain full employment without inflation — to use fiscal monetary policies to help match total demand to our growing production potential — to maintain and enhance healthy competition — to achieve national purposes as far as possible by enlisting the voluntary cooperation of business, labor and other groups."

Johnson told Congress that demand and production booms should add $46.5 billion to the gross national product, GNP — total of all goods and services — increasing it to a record $722 billion in the next fiscal year.

He predicted that the employment rolls will increase by 2.5 million and that the unemployment rate will drop to 4.1 per cent of the labor force by the end of the year.

The President said the economic cost of the Viet Nam war "imposes no unbearable burden on our resources." He added that production for Viet Nam accounts for less than 1½ per cent of the GNP.

Serious Challenge

"Perhaps our most serious economic challenge in 1966," he said, "will be to preserve the essential stability of costs and prices which has contributed significantly to our balanced progress."

In a report accompanying the President's message, his Council of Economic Advisers cautioned labor and management: "Both should reflect on the fact that if their actions create an inflationary spiral, the most likely outcome will be a restrictive fiscal and monetary policies which will aim to stop further price increases but will in the process also reduce output, cut back profits and reduce employment."

The administration's worry about inflation was reflected in the steepest December climb in living costs in 15 years

The Labor Department reported prices of food, clothing, housing, transportation and medical care rose four-tenths of one per cent last month.

Expect Some Hikes

Commissioner Arthur Ross of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said the prospect for 1966 is for price increases at least as high as last year, which averaged 1.7 per cent on an annual basis.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz was even more optimistic than Johnson on the outlook for a decline in unemployment. He predicted that the jobless rate might fall to 3.5 per cent by the end of June. He said this should not create serious manpower shortages.

The week was marked by a steady flow of corporate reports of record profits in 1965. Steel and oil companies were in the vanguard.

U.S. Steel Corp., for example, reported 1965 earnings of $275,576,312, or $4.62 a share, compared with $236,785,114, or $3.91 a share, in 1964. This was a gain of 18.2 per cent. Lukens Steel reported a gain of 24.9 per cent, Interlake 7.8 per cent, Republic 7 per cent, National 2.6 per cent, and Bethlehem 4.8 per cent.

Production Is Up

Automobile production during the week topped the 200,000-mark for the first time this year. Output was estimated at 201,500 cars, compared wih 199,081 the previous week and 197,387 a year ago.

Car sales in the middle 10 days of January dipped from the 1965 pace. Deliveries totaled 243,286 against 253,953 a year ago.

Steel production for the week advanced to 2,434,000 tons from 2,400,000 the previous week but was behind the comparable period of 1965.

Utility Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Power Commission approves the merger of Empire Gas & Fuel Co., Wellsville, N.Y., and the United Natural Gas Co., of Oil City, Pa.

The federal agency gave its approval Friday to the subsidiaries of National Fuel Gas Co., of Buffalo, N.Y.

Throwing darts is one of the most popular pastimes in the British Isles. The game, which goes back to the 16th century, is played by about six million people. Of these one million are registered players organized into 7,000 clubs affiliated with the National Darts Association. It is recorded that on the way to the New World the bored Pilgrim fathers played at darts aboard the Mayflower.

South won the first trick with dummy's ace of spades and took stock of the hand. He had one spade loser, one trump loser, no diamond losers and one or two club losers depending how the suit developed.

He decided to postpone the club play as long as he possibly could and to attempt to gather information along the way.

Therefore he led a diamond to his ace, returned to dummy's king and ruffed a diamond in his own hand.

Then he led a low spade toward dummy. Lew Mathe who sat East overtook his partner's eight with the nine in order to lead a trump. Bob Hamman sitting West rose with his ace and led another trump back.

South won in dummy, ruffed dummy's last diamond in his hand and then ruffed his last spade in dummy.

Now South was down to the all-important club play. He led a club from dummy and Lew Mathe played low. This didn't help South a bit. Lew was sure to play a low club if he had one and irrespective of what higher ones he might hold.

However, South had acquired a lot of information from the play. Bob Hamman, West, had already shown up with the queen of spades, ace of hearts and queen of diamonds. That gave him a total of eight high card points outside the club suit. If Bob also held the club ace he would have 12 points.

Bob is known as a man who likes to open the bidding and Bob had dealt and passed. It looked almost certain that Bob would not have that ace of clubs. South played the king and down he went.

Plan FDR Stamp Ceremony Today

The words of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt echoed today within a short distance of his home and final resting place at Hyde Park as the postmaster general of the U. S. marked dedication of the FDR six-cent postage stamp in ceremonies at the St. James Parish House in that Dutchess County village.

Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien was scheduled speaker for the 11 a. m. first day ceremonies where the 32nd President is buried.

Second In Series

The Roosevelt stamp is the second in the "Prominent American" series of new regular stamps. The series will consist of 18 stamps.

It also commemorates the 84th anniversary of the late president's birthday, which occurs tomorrow. The former chief executive died in 1945.

Poughkeepsie Post Office is responsible for processing of the first-day Roosevelt stamps at Hyde Park. Kingston Post Office provided service and cancellations for the first-day Robert Fulton stamps which were issued last year at Clermont.

A force of nearly 50 persons from the Poughkeepsie PO have been busy in temporary quarters at that post office, receiving and processing the first day covers. It was estimated that more than 100,000 requests for first day covers had been received and more were pouring in from throughout the U.S. and the world.

Postmaster O'Brien's speech in part:

"I am delighted to be here with you today for this stamp dedication. I was greatly pleased when my friend Congressman Resnick asked me to come to Hyde Park.

Presidential Greeting

"I think everyone knows that President Johnson, who wanted me to give you his warmest greetings, has derived from the life and career of Franklin Roosevelt an unfailing source of guidance and inspiration.

"I think it fitting and appropriate that we make special note of this stamp. Franklin Roosevelt, himself, was deeply interested in stamps and found in his hobby a channel by which he eased the nagging tensions of his public responsibilities. Earlier, during a crippling illness, he found in stamps a source of interest to draw his mind away from what then seemed a certain prospect of a life of pain and sharply restricted activity.

"President Roosevelt expressed close and continuing interest in his Post Office Department. My great predecessor Jim Farley looked forward t the many suggestions for new stamps and stamp designs that would come over from the White House. From 1933, until his death in 1945, President Roosevelt was responsible for the issuance of 134 new commemorative and forty-nine regular stamps. All in some way bore the mark of his interest and his good taste.

"But there is another and more important reason why this stamp is significant. The Post Office is one of our most effective means of communication — and Franklin Roosevelt was a communicator without peer.

"It could well be said that radio was, until he mobilized it to inform and awaken our people, like an unused musical instrument. His "Fireside Chats" transformed radio from a form of entertainment into a new and powerful medium.

"Today, with the grayness of Depression wiped from our lives and with the enemies of democracy so insignificant before the awful potential of our arms, it is easy to forget the quality of the message that was so uniquely his during the era that is graced with his name.

"He accomplished so much in so short a time for so many . . . that it is difficult to focus sharply on the real impact of Franklin Roosevelt.

"And yet, if we consider it there is one central, overriding, fundamental element that captured the real meaning of this great man to our country.

"That elemental fact is vision.

"Where others saw the shadows that filled our lives, his was a vision of the light that cast those shadows.

" Today, we have new problems.

"We face new dangers.

"In some ways these problems and dangers are more formidable than those faced by the generation of the 30s and 40s . . . for today the problems are more complex, the causes less certain, the dangers less clear-cut.

"I think that our need for a leader with vision is today as great, or greater, than it was in the era of Franklin Roosevelt.

"And in my estimation ,among the most valuable of the many spiritual and political legacies received by Lyndon Baines Johnson from Franklin Delano Roosevelt was precisely this gift of vision.

"Another President, who also gave his life in office for his country, said, "Let us move forward." . . . and President Kennedy brought us forward.

"Let us, then, lift our eyes to the great figures of the past, gathering from their splendor the courage and the confidence to seize this chance to march toward a greater future for ourselves and our children. Let us make the vision of today the victory of tomorrow."

Among the dignitaries expected in attendance are Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop, Diocese of New York; Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick of Ellenville, and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. and John Roosevelt, two of the late president's sons.

Quill Succumbs

had suffered after his arrest Jan. 4.

Dr. Zuckerman said he had warned Quill to slacken his pace. "There's no doubt about it, that he worked too hard," he said. "Mike never let up."

Quill's second wife, Shirley, was at his side when he died.

A funeral service has been tentatively set for Tuesday at St. Paul the Apostle Roman Catholic church at 415 W. 59th St.

Before his arrest Quill had clashed repeatedly with Mayor John V. Lindsay. He called Lindsay a "pipsqueak" and mispronounced his name. The mayor was one of the first to comment on Quill's death in this statement:

"Michael Quill's death marks the end of an era. He was a man who was very much a part of New York. My sympathy goes to his wife and family."

Always Fought Hard

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, who with President Johnson had attacked the transit settlement as inflationary, said that "Mike Quill believed in human justice and he fought hard for what he believed in."

George Meany, head of the AFL-CIO, said, "It's tragic. He was a man who devoted his entire life to the union. He lived for it and he died for it."

Former Mayor Robert F. Wagner said, "He was a tough antagonist in negotiations. I have always liked him. He was a man of his word."

After his release from Bellevue Quill had been confined for a short time at Mt. Sinai hospital. Then he was sent home to rest.

Detective Calls Ambulance

It became apparent at about 5 p.m. Friday that he was seriously ill. A city detective, Robert Lopez, who had been assigned to guard Quill because of threats against his life, called an ambulance and the emergency squad.

Lopez and Mrs. Quill administered oxygen, which was kept in the room because of Quill's previous heart trouble. He also was given artificial respiration, but he died before doctors arrived.

Quill was born in County Kerry, Ireland, in 1905, the seventh of eight children of a potato farmer. As a teen-ager he participated in the Irish rebellion and reportedly carried a rifle in the Kerry No. 2 Brigade of the Irish Republican Army.

Blackthorn Stick His Insignia

It was once said that a Black and Tan bullet caused his hip trouble, but actually he was born with the defect. He walked with the aid of a blackthorn stick until an operation in Vienna in 1932 corrected the defect. But he continued to carry the stick.

Quill came to this country in 1926 and went to work in the subways on a construction gang. He began to secretly organize the workers into a union in 1932. He later joined forces with the Communist-controlled Trade Union Unity League and the Transport Workers Union was born.

By 1935 the union was strong enough for him to quit working in the subway and became its full-time president. The TWU has grown to a force of 135,000 members in all phases of transportation.

Nicknamed "Red Mike"

His close association with Communists earned him the nickname of "Red Mike," but he eventually forced te Communists from the union.

The 12-day strike earlier this month was only the second one Quill ever called. The first was a sit-down strike in 1937 in the Williamsburg power plant of the BMT Subway.

Quill received a salary of $27,500 as TWU president, but he generally lived modestly.

Once someone pointed out that many union leaders were becoming labor statesmen. But this was not for Quill. He said: "I was never equipped to be a labor statesman. I drank too much scotch, ate too much roast beef. I'm not suited for it."

Farm Worker Admits Assault With Knife

Accused of slashing another farm worker early today, Thaddeus Prather, 56, an employe on the Angelo Nacri Empire Farm, Plattekill, was arrested by Highland State Police on a charge of second degree assault.

He was charged with knifing Clayton Baldwin, 33, with an 8-inch butcher knife. Baldwin was taken to St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, where 32 sutures were taken to close knife wounds of the face and left forearm.

Troopers G. W. Zappolo and S. T. Roberts, who investigated and made the arrest, arraigned Prather before Justice of the Peace Linn Baker, Town of Lloyd. The defendant was permitted to plead guilty to a reduced charge of third degree assault. He was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail.

No Decision . . .

when the enemy ignores all offers to negotiate and proceeds to rebuild his supply lines in preparation for an escalation of the war?" he asked.

Renews Theme

Johnson renewed in a speech Friday morning his theme that peace can be restored in Viet Nam "whenever the Viet Cong and their mentors to the north can finally be convinced that violence will not prevail."

Addressing some 100 young people here for the annual Senate youth program, Johnson charged that a few fanatical leaders belonging to a cult of hoplessness are "pursuing the old cynical strategy of rule or ruin."

He added "we cannot and we must not let that strategy succeed."

Another White House meeting — presumably dealing with Viet Nam — was held by Johnson Friday afternoon with his top national security advisers, White House news secretary Bill D. Moyers said. A smaller, unannounced meeting was held the night before.

List Participants

Among those present Friday, Moyers said, were Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Undersecretary of State George W. Ball, Assistant Secretary of State William P. Bundy, U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, Presidential Assistant McGeorge Bundy and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Answering a question, Moyers said Johnson "does welcome counsel — diverse counsel — and the views of people who feel impelled by conscience to speak out."

But Moyers added that "the President feels that as commander in chief, the responsibility for decision is his."

"I would not accept the idea that he is perturbed" by divergent views coming from some congressmen, Moyers said.

A number of such views were expressed at a four-hour meeting Friday of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee as critics grilled Rusk on the administration's policies.

Raise Point

Senators raised the point that the 1964 resolution did not give the administration free rein on Viet Nam. Fulbright told the secretary that in passing the resolution Congress was not taking action "that might well lead to a world war."

Rusk replied that in approving the resolution the Senate made no reservations. It didn't say, he pointed out, that "this doesn't apply if things get tough."

Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, one of the most vocal critics of administration Viet Nam policy and a signer of the letter to Johnson, said in an interview he was glad he had not voted for the 1964 resolution.

"I was opposed to give the President a blank check to wage war as he saw fit in Southeast Asia," Gruening said. "As a result of the resolution, we've gotten in deeper and deeper and we are in a mess."

Urges Backing

In the Senate, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., who recently visited Viet Nam, urged fellow liberals of both parties to give full backing to Johnson if he orders a resumption of bombing. But he proposed that Johnson submit a new resolution which he said could touch off a full-scale congressional debate.

Sen. Fred Harris, D-Okla., said he agreed with Javits that resumption of bombing would be a military rather than a political decision.

"And a military decision must be made by the constitutional commander-in-chief, the President," he said.

Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., commended Javits' speech and said he is confident members of Congress would "stand with the President whenever his decision is made."

Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., also praised Javits and said "I feel you have expressed succinctly the consensus of the Congress of the United States and the American people on this issue."

Two Democrats who recently visited South Viet Nam, Sens. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., and Daniel B. Brewster, D-Md., added their praise for the speech.

In a speech Friday night to the University Club at Hartford, Conn., Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., called the war in Viet Nam "a contest in staying power."

"It has been demonstrated," he said, "that if free men can show the determination to resist long enough, the Communists can ultimately be induced to abandon their aggression."

Death Takes One Of City's Famed Baseball Greats

Joseph B. Moore, renowned throughout the area for his stellar baseball play and career as a steeplejack, died suddenly Friday at the age of 73.

Moore, who resided at 9 Ten Broeck Avenue, Kingston, was a member of Holy Cross Church. He was known throughout his long career as "Kid" Moore, a tribute to his spectacular diamond play with the original Zu Zu's and the Kingston Colonials. So great was his mastery of the game that he had been honored in the local Old Timers Hall of Fame.

Moore was a retired employe of the Kingston Board of Education and had been a resident of this city for most of his life. He was born in Elizabeth, N. J., the son of the late Charles and Catherine Coddington Moore.

He is survived by his wife, Anna E. Hawkins Moore; a son, Donald G. Moore; three sisters, Mrs. Violet Odie and Mrs. Chester Fuller of Newburgh, and Mrs. Hilda Markle of Kingston; two grandchildren, Robert J. and Diane B. Moore; and several nieces and nephews.

The funeral will be held from Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 27 Smith Avenue, Monday, Jan. 31, at 9:30 a. m.; thence to Holy Cross Church where a requiem Mass will be offered at 10 a. m. Burial will be in St. Peter's Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home this evening from 7 to 9 p. m. and Sunday from 3 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

that Krawitz suffered right arm injuries, while his wife, Lillian Krawitz, 65, a passenger in his car, suffered injuries to the right knee and left ribs. The injured were taken to the Ellenville Fire Aid & Rescue Squad.

Trooper R. E. Pinnow investigated.

Car Crashes on Rt. 209

Three motorists escaped injury in another three car chain reaction accident about 11:45 Friday night on Rt. 209 in the Town of Wawarsing.

Ellenville substation troopers said that cars were operated north on Rt. 209 by Thomas Duffy, 47, of Maybrook; Elwyn Champagne, 31, of Napanoch, and Julius Friedberg, 57, of Accord, in that order. They said that Duffy was slowing in the traffic lane to make a right turn onte the Plank Road to Napanoch when it was struck in the rear by the Champagne vehicle. They said that Friedberg, who was third in line, was involved in the collision from the rear.

Trooper D. A. Dymond investigated.

such a document, has not reached my office and may have been released purely for publicity purposes.

"The resolution implies that I as supervisor have the power to put reapportionment into effect by myself. Those who are generally better informed know that reapportionment is a complex program requiring many public hearings, studies and committees. After one attempt, the state has not as yet come up with a plan that will be acceptable to the courts.

"To expect Ulster County to accomplish this momentous task before the state has solved the problem is indeed naive thinking.

"Unfortunately there is no such 'Reapportionment Committee' within the framework of the Board of Supervisors. This most likely would be in the province of the Legislative Committee of the board, and I suggest to the local Democratic Club that they direct their resolution to them."

Dinner Honors 2

Attorney Joseph P. Torraca, both of Ulster County, and Kingston Police Chief Robert F. Murphy.

Albert Roberts, of Highland, game protector for the New York State Conservation Department, and State Police Sgts. William Cameron and Donald Paulson, were in charge of arrangements.

Dick McCarthy a radio newscaster, served as toastmaster. The program consisted of talks on behalf of the honored guests and the presentation of gifts.

Nab Greene . . .

on her description of the alleged assailant.

The girl was treated by Dr. Stephen Vase, of Gilboa.

Senior Investigator James Buckley and Inv. Josheph Alisants of the BCI investigated with Trooper Patrick Madigan.

Paltz Youth Jailed

Roy Rudolph Smith, 18, of New Paltz was sentenced to 12 days in the county jail by Justice Rexford Schneider on Friday after he had been found guilty of prowling and being a "Peeping Tom". Smith was charged with disorderly conduct after he had been arrested on Jan. 22 by New Paltz Police Officers Silas Countryman and Edward Walsh. The arrest took place in a residential neighborhood after a complaint had been lodged with the police.

Two Larceny Cases Deferred in Court

The cases of two persons arrested Friday by police on separate criminal charges were adjourned today in City Court to next week in order for the defendants to obtain counsel.

Special City Judge George Beck adjourned to Monday hearing for Harold R. Waterman, 26, of 425 Morningside Drive, Dalton, Ga., on a charge of first degree grand larceny. The court is expected to assign counsel for his defense. Waterman, who was arrested by Detective William Slover on a warrant, was continued in $1,000 cash or $2,000 bail bond.

Judge Beck paroled Susan Hasenflue, 33, of Lomontville, into her own custody for appearance Tuesday on a charge of petit larceny. The adjournment was to provide her time to obtain an attorney.

The woman was arrested on a shoplifting complaint by a local store. Patrolmen Booth Pendell and Jerry Vitek made the investigation.

In an adjourned case, Judge Beck, fined Milton Tompkins, of Mountain View Avenue, Hurley, $20 when Tompkins admitted a speeding charge. The citation was issued last June 29.

Most Poisonous Fish

The stonefish is the world's most poisonous known fish. A member of the scorpion fish family, the stonefish lurks in western Pacific and Indian ocean bottoms. Poison from the hypodermic spines that cover its back can cause insanity, even death.

Castillo Dresses Are Sleeveless And Short in Paris

PARIS (AP) — Antonio Castillo's spring collection which opened today represented all kinds of women. His good little girls were very, very good, and his slightly naughty ones were nautical.

From the start, butterflies flitted in and out of the designer's collection as twinkling pins rested on the slightly wide shoulders of dresses and suits; perched on some of those saucerlike bowlers over hair pulled back into twists.

Castillo's "good-little - girl" dresses were sleeveless, small busted, long-torsoed and short. Sometimes their hems were hiked three inches above the kneecap, although an inch was the general rule.

Sailor caps without crowns pitched jauntily forward on the heads of his slightly naughty little girls who hid bare midriffs and barebacks under fooler jackets with fly fronts.

hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

Here's an idea for those who make a big batch of cooked starch each week, and must strain it because it's lumpy, gotten too cold, etc.

If they will take an old nylon stocking, lay it in a bowl, pour the warm starch through the leg opening and let it drain into the bowl, it will give perfectly strained starch.

By holding the stocking up after the starch cools, you can run your hand down the stocking, from top to bottom, and squeeze out every iota.

It seems to me that tea strainers and flour sifters do not remove all of the tiny lumps, and those minute pieces in the starch are what cause spots on dark clothes.

Launderess

You're right as rain. And, that stocking can be washed under cold water, shaken a few times, and tied around your starch container for next week's use.

Tired of searching for your toddler's other shoe?

When you take baby's shoes off, simply tie them together by their laces—bow fashion.

Never another one-lost-shoe.

Dear Heloise:

After sterilizing baby bottles in hard water for over two months, the bottles had that white, chalky deposit which was impossible to remove.

When I was ready to put them away to save for the next baby, my husband told me to boil them in vinegar water. So, I added one cup of vinegar to the pot of water, put the bottles in, and let them boil for 15 minutes.

I was surprised to see that the chalky substance wiped off with a clean towel.

Dear Heloise:

While scrubbing the carpet, I came across a new idea for your famous nylon net—it's the greatest!

The nylon net doesn't hold water, so the carpet doesn't get soaked. The more you dip into the pail, the more suds you get. And, that's what you need to clean the carpet—not the hot water.

Dear Heloise:

Though I am a widower left with several children, I still have some of the same problems that housewives do when it comes to heel marks made by kids wearing tennis shoes and loafers:

I find that if you take an eraser—especially one of those big, soft ones—and rub it over those terrible black marks on linoleum (and all types of floors), the marks will come off beautifully

Thank you for helping us all.

And, may God bless you, sir. Make all your children give you a big kiss from us.

It does work!

And, it does not seem to hurt the wax, or any kind of floor!

Dear Heloise:

I read your suggestion on flouring bacon before frying it, and agree with you that it's wonderful.

May I suggest that people also flour link saugages before frying them; This prevents their bursting and losing the juice.

Would Save Castles

ROME (AP) — A nationwide campaign has been started to save the Italian peninsula's many castles from ruin and decay. The Italian Institute of Castles, a private organization founded two years ago, is behind the drive.

The first step is a complete listing of all castles in Italy. Experts estimate there are several hundred.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, Jan. 29, the 29th day of 1966. There are 336 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1737, Thomas Paine was born at Thetford, Norfolk, England. A political philosopher and pamphleteer, Paine's writings were of great influence in both the American and French revolutions.

On this date

In 1843, William McKinley, the 25th President, was born at Niles, Ohio.

In 1857, England instituted the Order of the Victoria Cross.

In 1861, Kansas, the 34th state, was admitted to the Union.

In 1918, during World War I, German planes attacked London.

In 1943, the British 8th Army crossed the border from Libya to Tunisia in North Africa.

Ten years ago — 10 persons were killed in a fire and panic at a church oyster roast near Baltimore.

Five years ago — The incoming president of Brazil, Janio Quadros, said he would grant asylum to the rebels who had hijacked the cruise ship Santa Maria in the Caribbean.

One year ago — The French government denied the use of its military shrine, the Invalides, for Gen. Maxime Weygand's funeral because he advised surrender to the Germans in 1940.

Lucky Coffee Break

CRANSTON, R.I. (AP) — Minutes after Gerald P. Cohen left the work bench of his florist shop, an automobile crashed through the wall. His wife and brother were working elsewhere in the shop and were not hurt. The bench was hurled several feet. Cohen was out looking for a hot plate. He, his wife and brother had decided to take a break and found there was nothing on which to heat the coffee.

Dental Health Observance Set In County Area

Local dentists have enlisted wide assistance to bring the 18th National Children's Dental Health Week, Feb. 6-12, to the attention of parents.

As members of the Third District Dental Society stretching from Troy to Kingston, they will have the help of newspapers, radio and television, schools, government, clubs, stores and many individuals and organizations in observance of the week.

"Keep a smile for your future," is the theme for the 1966 Children's Dental Health Week.

Dr. Joseph M. Sullivan of Troy, chairman of the Third District's committee on Dental Health, said special assignments have been given the 22 members of his committee to promote the week. The members are practicing dentists in the counties of Albany, Columbia, Greene, Rensselaer, Schoharie, Sullivan and Ulster. Similar campaigns are underway in adjoining districts.

Dr. Jeremiah Sachs of Kingston, Third District president, and Dr. Bernard Rosenn of Albany, president-elect, said all of the 300-plus members will take active parts in the week's observance.

Their work is being supplemented at state and national levels, according to Dr. Sullivan, who forsees "Improved dental health of children when they and their parents learn that the best way to prevent tooth decay is by brushing after every meal or snack, seeing the dentist regularly and cutting down on sweets."

ewideHCandtt on,Hanyeirlarly

Another objective of the week is the message that gum disease can be prevented, and cured if it is treated in time. Many other lessons of dental health will be distributed by various means during the week of Feb. 6 through 12.

Saugerties

Given Gold Key By National 4-H

Mrs. Margaret Long Arnold of Saugerties, a leader in civic and women's groups, has been named one of eight winners of national 4-H Alumni gold key awards of 1966.

Mrs. Arnold is the wife of Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, Saugerties superintendent of schools. She is also the immediate past national president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Arnold will be honored at the 14th alumni anniversary banquet next December during the 45th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. The gold key is the highest honor the 4-H program has to offer former members.

Award recipients are named by the Cooperative Extension Service.

Only 112 of the more than 23 million alumni have received this award in the 14 years the recognition program has been sponsored by the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation.

Mrs. Arnold, a 4-H'er for five years in Marlboro County, N. H., is a graduate of Syracuse University and served as director of speech and dramatics in the Syracuse school system. She holds the Arents Medal, Syracuse University's highest alumni award.

Auxiliary Plans Anniversary Fete

Bitter cold weather failed to keep many members of Centerville Fire Company Auxiliary, plus two guests, from attending a meeting of the organization this week.

Plans were discussed for the annual banquet of the group which is scheduled for Tuesday, March 22. A committee of four including Emily Staudigl, Helen Walbroehl, Hele Dedrik and Kathleen Whitaker is in charge of securing a place at which to hold the fete.

The banquet date follows by only a few days the 20th anniversary of the Auxiliary on March 13. In view of this, all 20 year members will be honored at the banquet.

Program for the gala event will be in charge of Patricia Ricks; Evelyn Sherwood, president; Kathleen Whitaker and Helen Walbroehl.

A nominating committee has also been appointed by the organization. Serving on this group are Minna Bauser, first chairlady; Lena Stiso and Rose Hinchey.

Members voted donations to the local firemen and the TB Seals program, and heard an interesting report on Girl Scout activities by Charlotte Sperl.

Members also lent their unanimous approval to bidding for the Dartball League dinner to be held April 11 on a motion by Louise Sperl, refreshment chairman.

Myers Is Cited For Achievements

Frederick C. Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Myers of RD 1, Saugerties, has again been cited by the U. S. Army Engineer Geodesy, Intelligence and Mapping Research and Development Agency (GIMRADA), Fort Belvoir, Va., for his achievements as an author. He recently received congratulations and a $75 "Special Act and Service" award from Col. Lloyd L. Rall, Commanding Officer, for his article, "Electrostatic Printing," published in Proceedings of the Annual Conference of the Engineering Council of the Graphic Arts Industry. He was the recipient of a similar award last year.

A graduate of Saugerties High School, Myers attended Alfred University where he received a BS Degree in Ceramic Engineering in 1950. He served in the Army from 1950 to 1952 at Fort Belvoir, and took a civilian position there following his release from military service. He is employed in the Graphics and Display Division of GIMRADA. Myers resides with his wife, the former Barbara J. Teetsell of Saugerties, and their son, Grant F., at 4209 Adrienne Drive, Alexandria, Va.

TV Popularity Dips

MANILA (AP) — American television shows have nosedived in popularity on local television stations, according to latest ratings.

Roger K. Davis, writing in the Manila Bulletin, said the drop in the popularity of American shows was due to the increased cost of American programs and to an upsurge of locally produced shows in Tagalog, the national language of the Philippines.

Woodstock News

HARRY SIMON

Panel Promises Wide Diversion Of Views on Arts

What may eventually become one of the best remembered panel discussions of the season is planned by the Woodstock P-TA at its meeting Tuesday, Feb. 1, at 8 p. m. in the Woodstock School.

Topic up for discussion is The Role of the Cultural Arts in the School Curriclum. With Dwight Harris serving as moderator, members of the panel will include: Mrs. Gladys Plate, Onteora art teacher; Harry Simon, director of the OCS music depatment; and private citizens Mrs. Jean Rickard and Mrs. Max Hauser.

The quartet is expected to present varying viewpoints on the subject during the course of the panel discussion. The subject matter has often aroused past controversy here, and the program should attract a large crowd.

All residents of the community, whether members of the local P-TA or not, are invited to attend this session and participate in the discussion. Officials of the organization are hoping that a good cross section of varying points of view will be aired at the meeting. They hope artistic exponents will be present, as well as taxpayers who may feel the cultural arts are less important than other school subjects.

The P-TA has also slated two future meetings which will be of more than usual interest. On March 1, a presentation on the upcoming bond issue for additional building at the Boiceville high school, will be held. Several members of the Board of Education will attend, and the format of the planned discussion will be announced later.

April 19 will bring a meeting that should be of vital interest to most area residents. Topic for the evening will be Discipline and Communications Between Parents and Children.

Exchange Student Needs Host Home

American Field Service Chapter of Onteora Central Schools is interested in hearing from local families who would be interested in playing host family to an exchange student, beginning in the fall. The Onteora District will be home to a foreign student for the fourth time in 1966-67.

Two such students have lived and studied here in the past, and one is currently enrolled in the high school. Sener Ozer of Turkey was the first to arrive three years ago. He was followed by Elizabeth Steele of England. This year's student is Therese Mercerat of Switzerland.

Area families which have been privileged to have these students live in their households have had high praise for the experience. All of them urge other residents here to consider opening their homes and hearts to the student who will be selected from abroad to attend Onteora next year.

Anyone interested in this project which is open to most families may obtain further information from William Wakefield, local field service chapter president, or Mrs. Richard Rowe, home service chairman.

Woodstock Firemen To Meet Monday

Members of the four companies comprising the Woodstock Fire Department will meet for their quarterly meeting Monday, Jan. 31, at 8 p. m. at the firehouse in Lake Hill, home of Woodstock Fire Co. No. 3.

Walter Stone, president of the host company, will preside at the meeting. Refreshments will be served by the Ladies Auxiliary of Woodstock Fire Co. No. 3.

All active members of the Woodstock Fire Department are invited to attend this meeting.

In colonial America, generations of housewives made fragrant candles from bayberries.

Chapel Players Perform Widely

The Wagner College Players, who will bring a touring company to Woodstock Feb. 3, were organized in Sept. 1963. Their first production was Gunther Reutenborn's The Sign of Jonah. During the 1963-64 season, the Players presented No Exit by Jean Paul Sartre; A Child Is Born by Stephen Vincent Benet; The Terrible Meek by Charles Rann Kennedy; Candle by Al Wagner; and six performances of the musical satire, For Heaven's Sake! by Helen Kromer and Frederick Silver.

The summer of 1964 saw the Eliot's The Cocktail Party as part of a special Drama-in-the-Church workshop. The season of 1964-65 began with Aria Da Capo by Edna St. Vincent Millay and The Diary of Anne Frank by Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett. Arthur Miller's The Crucible was performed 17 times in churches on Long Island, and in New England, New Jersey and New York as the first touring production. During April and May of that season, the Players presented Christ in the Concrete City by Philip Turner in several local churches and played a special performance in the Protestant Pavilion at the New York World's Fair.

Excerpts from Prof. Wagner's play Candle were recreated for television at the RCA Pavilion of the World's Fair. During the summer of 1965 the Chapel Players presented three short plays, The Last Word by James Broughton, Santa Claus by E. E. Cummings, and It Should Happen to a Dog by Wolf Mankowitz as part of the annual Drama-in-the-Church Workshop. 1965-66 began with Act Without Words I by Samuel Beckett, a one man pantomine of the frustrations of man. Two From TV included two short television plays from the CBS series Look Up and Live and NBC series Frontiers of Faith. Planned for the future are productions of Women at the Tomb by Michael Ghelderode and another musical A Man Dies.

Christopher Fry's A Sleep of Prisoners, this year's touring production will be presented at Christ's Lutheran Church on Mill Hill Road in Woodstock. Tickets for the performance may be picked up at the Lutheran parsonage or may be reserved by calling the church.

Troop 62 Holds Court of Honor

Boy Scout Troop 62 of Lake Hill, sponsored by Woodstock Fire Co. No. 3, held a charter presentation and court of honor at the firehouse Monday night.

Under the direction of Neighborhood Commissioner Richard Nixdorf, the Troop Charter for 1966 was presented to fire company president Walter Stone of the sponsoring institution. Membership cards for the troop committee were presented to committee chairman Lawrence Casey, who presented each member of the committee with his card.

Scoutmaster Arthur Smith presided at the court of honor, with Senor Patrol leader Benson Lapo conducting an induction service for Kyle King, new member of the troop. Members of Troop 62 participated in the induction ceremony, with the new member's mother receiving a miniature tenderfoot pin from her son.

Scout Daniel Sonnenberg was awarded a compass for the best performance in the recent fund drive.

Committee chairman Casey discussed various plans and records of the troop and complimented scoutmaster Arthur Smith on his tenure as troop leader.

Following the meeting, David Fox showed motion pictures of activities at the Rhinebeck Airdrome where old-fashioned airplanes are rebuilt and flown as a hobby by members of the Rhinebeck group.

Summer Program Needs New Staff

Applications are now being accepted from Woodstock residents interested in applying for positions with the 1966 Summer Recreation program.

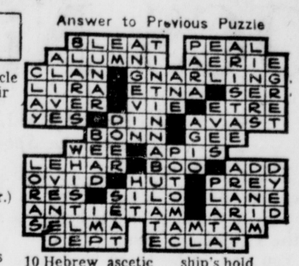

Deadline for applying is March 1, and those hired will work on the Andy Lee Memorial Field on Rock City Road, supervising swimming, crafts, archery and games.

Needed to staff the field this summer are a director, assistant director, lifeguard, arts and crafts director, and assistant director of arts and crafts. Some of these positions are open to local high school and college students.

Those applying should list name, address, telephone number, age and qualifications. Applications should be mailed to Woodstock Recreation Committee, Woodstock Town Hall, Tinker Street, Woodstock.

Notes Schoharie Grant

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick announced today that Schoharie County will receive a $15,615 grant to launch a nine month study and evaluation of poverty in the county.

The grant will be made by the Office of Economic Opportunity to the Schoharie County Community Action Corporation,, a private non-profit group headed by Harry Donaghy.

"Schoharie County has taken a big step forward in organizing for a hometown fight on poverty," Rep. Resnick said in making the announcement. "These funds will enable an already active volunteer committee to hire the professional staff necessary to study and analyze the job to be done."

OCS Nips New Paltz, 72-71, on Kelly's Basket at Buzzer

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Brian Kelly threw in an unbelievable basket at the buzzer to climax a fantastic comeback by Onteora Central as the Indians nipped New Paltz, 72-71, before a stunned SRO crowd last night at the Huguenots' gym.

You had to be there to believe what happened as the Indians came from as many as 15 points down midway through the third quarter to eke out the triumph and move into a tie for first with Marlboro in the sizzling race. New Paltz is now a game off the pace but the defending champions are still very much in contention.

Those who were lucky enough to watch this pivotal clash will be talking about the finish for a long time to come.

Here's what happened and if you find it hard to digest don't worry. You're not alone.

A pair of foul shots by Dennis Rickard with 1:06 left sent the defending champions in front, 71-68, and Onteora's great comeback seemed to be nullified. But, this one was far from over.

Sets the Stage

Chet Gaede, playing despite a touch of the flu, was fouled with 54 seconds remaining and he calmly made both of his 1 and 1 tosses to razor the edge to a point, 71-70. This set the stage for the windup.

Onteora had two shots in the next 48 seconds and failed to hit on both. When the Huguenots got the ball, it looked as if the game was over, especially since Sid DuBois was fouled with only six seconds to play.

DuBois had to make one to assure a tie and both to just about guarantee a New Paltz victory. He missed the first of the 1 and 1 and Kelly took the rebound off the boards.

He dribbled straight up the court, between players from both sides. As the seconds rapidly ticked away, Brian dribbled to the left side. He threw up a desperation hook shot from the corner just as the buzzer sounded. The ball went cleanly through the basket and the happy Onteora cagers swarmed around their hero while the stunned home side walked off the court in disbelief.

O'Neil Was Great

Kelly's basket overcame the individual heroics of Marsh O'Neil, the New Paltz ace. O'Neil practically beat the visitors by himself. He scored 30 points, passed off for several baskets and was tremendous from start to finish.

It was O'Neil who moved coach Joe Helhoski's club into a commanding, 35-20, lead with 3:12 left in the first half. New Paltz used a pressing defense in the first two periods and the Indians couldn't cope with it. They threw the ball away, missed several easy shots and looked completely disorganized. It seemed like a rout was in the making.

The Indians cut into the New Paltz margin at the start of the third quarter but a spurt at the six minute mark of the stanza widened the gap to 13 points and time was running out.

In the final moments, the tide began to turn and John Mower's bucket at the buzzer made it a 54-46 game with eight minutes of action remaining.

Fred Pettinato, the Indians' best performer, tallied from underneath to start the last session but O'Neil retaliated for New Paltz.

Gibbons Fouls Out

Rich Gibbons of the home side went out on fouls with 6:33 remaining and Kelly converted both shots to make it a six point difference once again. Dennis Rickard's layup made it, 58-50, with six minutes to go.

Russ Carlson tapped in a rebound and Kelly came back to hit from outside as the Indians went into a press and forced the Huguenots into countless errors.

Moore was fouled with 5:19 left and he made both shots of the 1 and 1 situation to narrow the gap to a field goal, 58-56. O'Neil, who always seemed to be in the right place at the right time, fed center Jeff Otis underneath to widen the edge to four points.

The Indians refused to go under. Tex Moore connected from behind the circle and then Kelly stole a pass off the press and went in for an easy score. Gaede was fouled with 4:04 showing on the clock and he made both to put the Indians ahead for the first time since the opening seconds of play, 62-60. This one was building up for that slam bang finish.

O'Neil, who was tremendous under the extreme pressure, took matters into his own hands. He made a jump shot from the foul line to tie the score and then hit from the left side to put New Paltz back on top, 64-62.

Pettinato knotted the count at 64 with 3:08 left and the gym was in an uproar. You couldn't hear yourself think.

Kelly was fouled and he missed the first shot of the 1 and 1 situation. O'Neil took a pass off the rebound and he swished the ball cleanly through the hoop to put New Paltz in front, 66-64.

The Last Deadlock

Gaede knotted the count for the last time with a long one. It was now a 66-66 barn burner and there were still two minutes to play.

John Kenney of the home side made one of two free throws and then Otis swiped a pass and went in without trouble to send his club three points in front, 69-66, with only 1:45 remaining. For the umpteenth time in the contest the Indians looked beaten.

The pesty Pettinato sliced the margin to one point by hooking one in from the left side. Rickard was fouled with 1:06 left. He made both to give his side that three point edge. You know what happened after that.

In addition to O'Neil's 30 points, Otis finished with 20 for New Paltz. He had 16 in the opening half. Pettinato had 18, Kelly 14 and Moore 13 for the winners. Kelly will never forget his final deuce. Neither will most of those in attendance.

The finish happened so suddenly that most of the spectators sat frozen to their seats for several minutes, still unaware of what took place. It couldn't have been a more dramatic ending.

The red hot race resumes next Friday with Onteora entertaining Wallkill and Marlboro, now virtually tied with the Indians, hosting Highland. New Paltz is idle.

The Huguenots won a 53-50 verdict in the jayvee contest.

Raiders Score Eight Baskets In DUSO Tilt

Hapless Port Jervis didn't even offer token resistance and was bombarded, 81-22, last night by Kingston High in a DUSO game at the Kate Walton Field House.

In going over the .500 mark for the season, coach John Gilligan's cagers helped the coach celebrate his 42nd birthday with an easy does it victory. Port was limited to eight baskets and was never in contention.

Eleven players saw action for the home side and Gary VanEtten's 16 points paced the attack. Charles Lay and Dan Heppner hit for 11 each and Brian Bach had 10.

Kingston is now 4-2 in DUSO play and will travel to Monticello on Tuesday, Feb. 8 for a second place battle with the Monties.

Maroon Jayvees Win 9th Straight, 89-51

Breaking open a tight game with 35 points in the third session, the unbeaten Kingston High Jayvees made it nine straight, 89-51, last night over the Port Jervis junior varsity.

Coach Mike Rienzo's point happy hoopsters had trouble for the first half, gaining only a 39-27 edge at the interim. The third period settled all final doubts.

Bruce Gilligan, who had 18 points in the first two periods, finished with 22 to pace the winners. Steady Andy Murphy collected 17 and Ken Gilligan had a dozen. Freshman Gene Bruno showed some promise with seven points.

Arlington Defeats Saugerties, 49-35

Saugerties High could muster but 14 points in three periods and dropped a 49-35 decision last night to visiting Arlington.

Coach Bud Smith's quintet managed only 12 baskets during the entire evening as they lost their sixth circuit test in eight outings.

Arlington wasn't much better, opening with two points in the first period but then scoring 18, 11 and 18 over the next three quarters.

Ken Cardinal collected 16 points and Dave White had 14 for the Admirals. Ron MacRae's nine were high for the home side.

In the Jayvee contest, Arlington scored a 58-47 decision.

Falls, Lourdes DCSL Winners

Second place Wappingers nipped Poughkeepsie, 63-57, and third place Lourdes easily beat Roosevelt, 64-48, in DCSL cage tilts last night.

Jim Ruf tallied 24 points to gain individual honors for the Falls Flyers. Fred Johnson hooped 23 for the Pioneers but high scoring Richie Lawrence was held to 12 including only three buckets from the floor.

Loudes broke loose from a 10-10 first quarter tie to outdistance Roosevelt the rest of the way. The Warriors used nine players and they all scored. Rich Rinaldi led the losers with 19 points.

Remains Tied In UCAL Race With 82-50 Win

Leading from start to finish, Marlboro's red hot Dukes remained in the thick of the UCAL flag chase with a lopsided, 80-52, triumph last night at the Rondout Valley school court.

Coach Jack O'Donnell's quintet rolled to 37-22 halftime advantage and were never threatened in the third and fourth periods. The setback just about sealed the slim hopes of the Ganders to get back into the race.

Richard (Rod) Aurigemma, the league's top scorer, fashioned 22 points for the winners. He had ample help as Neil Fino added 16, Richie Faulk 15 and Mario Marcon 10. Tom Tegeler rimmed 22 and Pete Kilduff 15 for the Ganders but the others had off nights.

Rondout won the jayvee game, 41-28.

Tied with Onteora in the loss column, Rondout has a softie next Friday, hosting the winless Highland quintet.

KHS Grapplers Beat Onteora

Aided by four forfeits, Kingston High's wrestling team won a 29-21 non-league decision over visiting Onteora yesterday at the Kate Walton Field House.

Coach Dave Locasio of the Indians disciplined several of his grapplers and had to forfeit matches in the 105, 167, 182 and heavyweight division.

Results:

97-pounds - Raffaldi, Onteora, pinned Josefski, Kingston, 1:06.

105-pounds - Walker, Kingston, won on forfeit.

115-pounds - Scherer, Onteora, decisioned Dart, Kingston, 6-1.

122-pounds - Charlton, Kingston, decisioned Lehman, Onteora, 11-2.

129-pounds - McInerny, Kingston, decisioned Lane, Onteora, 12-0.

135-pounds - Ector, Kingston, decisioned Houseman, Onteora, 8-1.

140-pounds - Dorman, Onteora, pinned Davis, Kingston, 2:56.

147-pounds - Raffaldi, Onteora, pinned Tomson, Kingston, 1:08.

156-pounds - Kissel, Onteora, pinned Wilbur, Kingston, 3:06.

167-pounds - Dugan, Kingston, won by forfeit.

182-pounds - Primo, Kingston, won on forfeit.

Heavyweight - Schirick, Kingston, won on forfeit.

Coach Bill Hurley's team will travel to Port Jervis on Tuesday for a DUSO match.

Chicago Loyola Nips UCLA Quintet, 102-96

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

"I feel we can beat UCLA."

George Ireland, coach of the Chicago Loyola college basketball team, made that prediction Tuesday. His players fulfilled his prophecy Friday night with a come-from-behind 102-96 overtime victory over the national collegiate basketball champion.

Jim Coleman, a little guy at 5-foot-10, popped in a basket with 30 seconds left to tie the regulation game at 94-94 and sank another at the start of the extra period to pace the Ramblers to their 12th straight victory and an overall 14-1 record. In contrast it was the fifth defeat in 15 games for the Bruins compared to their 30-0 record in 1964 and 28-2 last season.

A capacity crowd of 18,193 at Chicago Stadium saw Loyola, seventh-ranked in The Associated Press poll, come from eight points back at 77-69 midway of the second half to defeat the 10th-ranked Uclans. It was the first game of a doubleheader.

31 For Freeman

Illinois, paced by Don Freeman's 33 points, handed Notre Dame its 11th straight defeat in the second game 120-92.

Loyola won the national championship in 1963, but Ireland says his current team "shoots better, is quicker and is faster. Our tactics are simple. We keep the pressure on. We press, press, press."

That is just what the Ramblers did when they were eight points down. They went ahead 88-87 with less than two minutes left. UCLA bounced back in front 93-90 on Mike Lynn's free throws and led 94-92 on another Lynn charity toss with 45 seconds left before Coleman popped in the tying basket.

The Ramblers dominated the overtime. Two quick goals by Coleman and Alan Miller put them ahead to stay and avenged their 85-72 defeat to UCLA on the same court last season.

Coleman scored 29 points altogether on 12 field goals and five of nine free throws. Doug Wardlaw, another little guy at 5-foot-11 also got 12 field goals and two of four foul tries for 26 points. Mike Warren also 5-foot-11, was high for UCLA with 25.

It was a memorable night for the Arizona Wildcats as well as Loyola. They whipped Stanford 94-54 for their first victory ever over the Indians. It spoiled the Tucson homecoming of 6-foot-9 Ray Kosanke who starred at Tucson High before going to Stanford.

Other home court victories were scored by San Francisco over Southern California 81-73, Clemson over Virginia 70-69, Connecticut over Colgate 97-74, Oregon over Portland 77-62, Georgia Tech over Arkansas 88-75, Duquesne over Toledo 78-60, Kentucky Wesleyan over Richmond 100-85, St. Peters over Seton Hall 93-82, Wyoming over New Mexico State 113-80 and Colorado State U. over Montana State 91-62.

2 Games Sunday InRecCageLoop

League leading Ray's Tackle Shop has another evening off but there are two games on tap in the Rec Basketball League Sunday at the Municipal Auditorium.

In the 7:15 opener, Armstrong's Eagles opposes Foster's Coach House Tavern. Mannie's Barber Shop plays Hub Delicatessen in the 8:15 second game.

Ray's is the only unbeaten club in the circuit so the battle for second place promises to be a lively one.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS

The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help Wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act if they offer less than legal minimum wages or pay wage differentials based on sex. Most employes engaged in interstate commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.25 an hour and time and one-half for hours worked over 40 in a week. Beginning September 3, 1964, most employes in certain large retail service, construction and other enterprises engaged in or producing goods for commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and time and one-half for hours worked over 42 in a week. The Act also requires equal pay for equal work for men and women. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act, call or write the U. S. Labor Department's local office at 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y., 10452, WYandotte 2-1235.

IMPORTANT NOTICE: The New York State Law against Discrimination and the Federal Civil Rights Act of 1964 prohibit discrimination in employment because of sex unless based on a bona fide occupational qualification. Help Wanted and Situation Wanted advertisements are arranged in columns captioned "Male" and "Female" for the convenience of readers and are not intended as an unlawful limitation or discrimination based on sex.

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

NEW YORK STATE
FAIR HOUSING LAWS

It is an unlawful discriminatory practice to refuse to rent or sell any housing accommodation or any commercial space, or to alter the terms and conditions of rental or sale, because of race, creed, color or national origin; EXCEPT where a rental unit is in a two-family house, of which the other unit is occupied by the owner. The law covers all activities of real estate brokers and agents and financial institutions, related to housing or commercial space. It is unlawful to aid, incite or compel any action forbidden by the law. We do not knowingly publish advertisements that violate these laws. Inquiries concerning the Fair Housing Law may be addressed to the New York State Commission for Human Rights, Albany, or the Commission on Human Relations, City Hall, Kingston.

East of Lake Ontario:

Variable cloudiness occasional snow flurries and continued cold today through Sunday. High around 10. Low tonight, zero to 10 above. Chance of a period of snow Sunday. Westerly winds 10 to 25, gusty at times becoming northerly 20 to 30 for a period tonight and Sunday.

Snow Hits Upstate, Freeze to Continue

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP — Snow hung on New York State's horizon for January's last weekend, after another night of bone-chilling wind and temperatures. No appreciable let-up in the cold was in sight.

Overnight low temperatures reported by the Weather Bureau ranged from an unofficial 31 below in the Jamestown area to an official -15 at Glens Falls and 10 above in New York City.

Seven inches of new snow had fallen at Rome.

Skies were fair in much of the state, but the Weather Bureau said snow would develop tonight and continue Sunday in the New York City area and probably in much of the rest of eastern New York. A chance of snow Sunday was foreseen for western New York and east of Lake Ontario.

Other overnight lows:

Watertown -14; Saranac Lake -10; Elmira -9; Massena -6; Olean -5; Plattsburgh, Whiteface and Binghamton -4; Booneville -3; Buffalo -2; Oneonta 0; Albany, Poughkeepsie, Newburgh and Syracuse 5 above; Rochester and Utica 6; Rome 7; Westhampton Beach 10.

New Life and New Hope in Community

School Is Activities Focal Point In One of Virginia's Poor Areas

By JACK MILLER

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — School was out for the day, but you would hardly know it.

Girls in black tights pirouetted on the auditorium stage during the ballet class. The school library bustled with activity. Some children were lined up to check out books while others pored over homework assignments.

The description might indicate Webster-Davis Elementary School is in one of America's affluent, education - conscious suburbs. Not at all.

In Depressed Area

It is in one of Richmond's poorest areas, a primarily Negro neighborhood of about 4,000, called Fulton, which lies on low ground in a semi-isolated section of the city's East End.

Two years ago, Fulton was in sad shape. Many of its leaders and homeowners had left for better areas. A large percentage of its population became transient.

Today there is new life and new hope in Fulton.

At the center of the vitality is Webster-Davis School. It is the Fulton headquarters for a human development project sponsored by Richmond public schools and the Ford Foundation.

Hits Deficiencies

The project is an assault not only on the deficiencies of children who come from poor and broken homes, but on the homes themselves.

It begins daily at 7:30 a.m., when youngsters start arriving — voluntarily — for a before-school class of one hour.

Many are there simply to keep warm. Their parents have left early for work and will not permit a fire in the house.

Some youngsters are there to take showers, others to talk over their personal problems, others to seek extra help with studies.

Teacher Is Serious

Chief of the before-school sessions is Robert H. Kemp, a jolly but serious-minded teacher in whom many of the youngsters confide. He talks to the children about behavior and ranges over many topics, including the daily news.

His No. 1 assistant is an 11-year-old boy who was once a disciplinary problem but now, Kemp says, is living proof of a person's ability to turn over a new leaf.

Kemp pounds away at the theme of self-improvement and the youngsters have adopted as their slogan: "To get a good job, get a good education."

"The thing that has impressed me so much is the increased respect the children have developed for law and order. It begins with things like taking care of their books and clothing."

Reduces Tardiness

At 8:45 a.m., Webster-Davis has an assembly for the whole school, 15 minutes before the start of regular classes. Called the "quiet hour," it was begun to reduce tardiness.

Now, with a surprise program in store each day, tardiness no longer is a problem. Among the programs are movies, music and speakers.

The regular school day is similar to those of most elementary schools. But specialized educators pack extra power into the program.

An important extra is special reading help. The school has a full-time reading specialist who conducts classes for children with unusual problems and holds frequent classes for the teachers.

Resources Room

Another extra is the "resources room." Here, classes of children are sent periodically for instruction in such things as good grooming, good manners and home economics.

To teach pupils thrift, the school has its own bank, and pupils are encouraged to save. One class built up a deposit of $130 before Christmas spending wiped it out.

While the school is working with the children, a "visiting teacher," Ollie B. Gee, is working as an intermediary with the parents.

During the first two years of the three-year project, Mrs. Gee says, the parents "have become more and more interested and involved in the school."

Adult Ed. Starts

Webster - Davis' daily operation does not end when the library closes and the ballet class is over. At night, it conducts a full program of education for adults and children.

Elsie G. Lewis, principal of Webster-Davis, says the school has become "the pivotal thing in the community."

"Our idea has been that the capabilities are inborn in all children — even in a poor area," says Mrs. Lewis. "If you give them the opportunities, you can help them become worthwhile citizens. I think it is just a lack of these things that has held so many down."

Results of the Fulton project show up quickly in the performance and behavior of the children. The guidance counselor, Doris Bradford, says reading level and achievement test scores have been "surging upward" since the start of the project.

Signs Unmistakable

In the community itself, measurement of progress is more difficult. But the signs are unmistakable.

Many Fulton residents are painting their homes, even renters who have bought the paint and done the job themselves. Several new apartment buildings are going up.

Children are coming to school better fed, clothed and rested.

But as one project official confided:

"We won't really know what this project has accomplished until these children grow up and we can see what they amount to."

NEW PALTZ NEWS

Program Listed For Study Club Guest Night Fete

It has been announced that Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Matzdorf will present the program at the Study Club's annual guest night to be held at the New Paltz Reformed Church in the social room Feb. 1.

Last spring the Matzdorfs and their two sons visited 10 European countries in pursuing a curriculum study of Silversmith Schools.

Matzdorf, who is an assistant professor of art at the State University College, here, is well known for his work in silver, and has been asked to exhibit his pieces in many museums.

The talk which has been titled A Silversmith's Sabbatical or Volkswagon Vagabonds will be illustrated by slides taken by the Matzdorfs.

A covered dish supper will be served at 6:30 p. m. under the supervision of Miss Mavis Taylor assisted by recreation hostess, Mrs. Fred DuBois and Mrs. Charles Still.

Members will bring plates and silver for themselves and guests. Hot dishes must be kept at a high temperature since there are no facilities for re-warming them.

ReformedChurchNotes

The sermon topic for Sunday at the New Paltz Reformed Church will be A Two-Way Street. Worship service is at 11 a. m. and all may attend.

A new communicants class is now being formed at the Reformed Church. The first meeting will be held Saturday, Feb. 5, at 10 a. m. in the social room of the church.

The course of religious instruction is divided into three two-month terms. The Rev. Gerrett Wullschleger, senior minister, introduces the class to the great truths of the Faith. There is no catechism or denominationalism. The members are encouraged to study, question and explore the meaning of terms such as religion, God, Jesus Christ, The Bible, The Church, immorality and others.

Letters have been sent to families of young people in the eighth grade church classes concerning the communicants class. Parents should give not only their consent, but their cooperation. They are asked to inform the church secretary of their decision.

The third term communicants class will begin the final two-month term of religious instruction with the pastor on Saturday, Feb. 5, at 9 a. m. Those who complete the course will be questioned by the elders of the church Palm Sunday and if they answer satisfactorily, they will be united with the church at Easter.

The Genevan Fellowship of the Reformed Church will have a supper meeting at 5 p. m. Sunday, at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. John Wiedenheft at 85 Huguenot Street. Following the supper he will talk on The Authority of the Bible and a discussion will be held. All New Paltz college students and students attending other colleges may attend. Supper reservations should be made.

Students Ratings In College Eyed By Draft Boards

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Selective Service System is moving to tighten up on college student deferments next fall by providing local draft boards with guidelines based on both testing and class standing.

The national director, Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, announced Friday that details will be announced soon.

He said the criteria will be similar to those employed during the Korean conflict, which included test score and class standing. The draft law specifies, however, that the guidelines are not binding on the local boards.

70 Rating Accepted

Under the system used from 1951-63, some 600,000 youths were given a Selective Service college qualification test. The passing score on the test was 70 to be considered by the local draft board for deferment as a regular college student and 80 for a graduate student, except that 70 was acceptable for graduate students in the healing arts.

The class standing criteria were that at the end of a college year a freshman had to be in the upper one-half of his class, a sophomore in the upper two-thirds, and a junior in the upper three-fourths.

List February Call

Monthly draft calls during the Korean conflict rose to a peak of 80,000 a month. The buildup in the nation's military forces in recent months to meet demands arising from the war in Viet Nam has brought calls ranging as high as 45,229 for December. The January call was for 38,280, the February call is for 29,400 and the March levy is for 32,900.

Hershey said negotiations have begun with testing agencies. He said also that the student certificate which schools now submit to reflect student standing is being revised to obtain class standing.

Decision Next Month

A spokesman said the current requirements that a youth must be taking a full-time course and must have satisfactory standing as determined by the institution will continue in effect.

With some 1.8 million college students holding II-S student deferments now, Hershey said last week that if he returned to use of the testing he hoped there could be one or two tests this school year and possibly two more this fall and winter. He said he had to reach his decision by around Feb. 1 in order to allow time for preparing for tests before summer.

Emphasizing he had no idea what the draft calls will be next fall, Hershey said he felt that "30,000 a month as a diet is too great for us" when asked when he thought he might be forced to draft college students.

Wilson, Lefky Get Nod Again In Rocky's Run

NEW YORK (AP) — Knocking down what he said were newspaper reports that he was seeking other running mates, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller reiterated Friday that he wants Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson and State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz "on my team" in November's election.

The Republican governor will be seeking his third term.

He made his pronouncement to 400 members of the New York State Federation of Republican Women at a luncheon in the Hotel Pierre. Lefkowitz was not there but had spoken at the group's dinner Thursday night.

Wilson, who introduced the governor, said later:

"I have always aspired to run again for lieutenant governor but I have great faith in the convention system and it will be up to the delegates to make the formal nomination."

Asked about rumors that he was considering others to replace Wilson and Lefkowitz, the governor said, "It's been in the press but I never said it. I'm delighted this has come into focus."

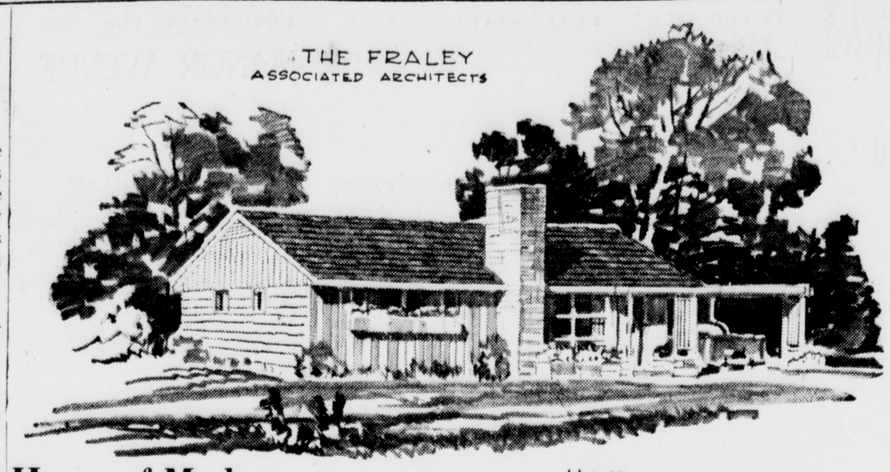

He told the Republican women: "Malcolm and Louis are on my team."

He has said the same before.

There has been speculation that Lefkowitz, 61, was planning to retire or take a judgeship, if the latter was offered to him by Rockefeller, and that Wilson, 52, also would retire and devote full time to his law practice.

Rockefeller said, regarding a candidate for comptroller in the November election, "That is under consideration but no determination has been made."

State Tax Commissioner Joseph P. Kelly of Syracuse and Secretary of State John P. Lomenzo of Rochester reportedly are under consideration for the GOP nomination to face Comptroller Arthur Levitt, if he decides to run again. Levitt is the only statewide-elected Democrat in the administration.

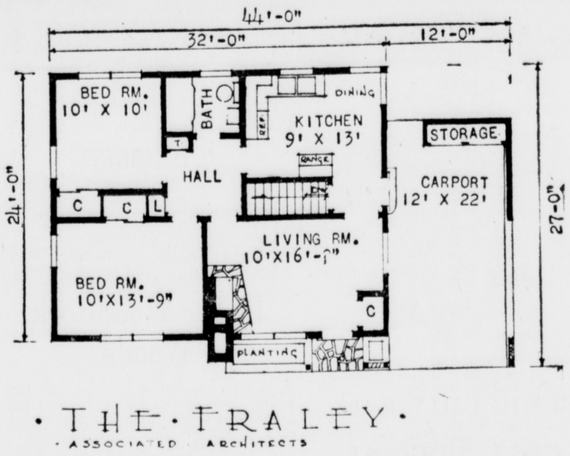

Home of Modern Design Appeals To Many Tastes

By JACK McELENEY

What makes you decide that a particular home is the one for you? Style, interior arrangement, cost, inherent value — these are perhaps the most important influences on your decision.

Today's home plan by Associated Architects is appealing from many points of view. "The Fraley," as it's called, is contemporary in style, will meet the approval of a variety of tastes, from conservative to modern. It is planned for economical construction, but because of the styling, does not look like a house built at a price.

Simplicity is the keynote. "The Fraley" is essentially a rectangle, punctuated by an attractive outside chimney, a floor-to-ceiling window wall and a carport. These break up the regular lines, resulting in a home of interesting horizontal and vertical lines.

Inside, there are two bedrooms, living room, kitchen with ample dining space and of course, a bath, fully equipped. The front door opens to the living room, and there is a side door connecting the carport and the kitchen. A useful hall is the central point from which all of the rooms interconnect.

For all its 44 by 24 feet, "The Fraley" offers a good deal of storage space. This is a particularly good feature, since it is a one-story home. Additional storage is available if the home is built with a basement. Plans also are available without basement. Each of the bedrooms has a large closet with space-saving sliding doors and two linen closets in the hall ease the burden of housekeeping. The bath is built with a "custom" touch—its tub is recessed, and incidentally, away from the window, where drafts inevitably blow.

The living room of this home holds promise of many good times, for friendly gatherings as well as for the family itself. A modern fireplace, the picture window I've mentioned, clear space for the furniture you like—combine to make this a useful as well as appealing room. As you may have noticed in the accompanying floor plan there is a convenient coat closet just inside the front door.

The kitchen is well designed to help the homemaker, from its counter to its space for appliances. The dining area, a cheerful spot is lighted naturally by a corner window.

You'll want to see all of the details of "The Fraley," I think. Full plans (from which you may actually build this home, are available at moderate cost. To obtain them please use the attached coupon, and check if you want prints with a basement (cubage — 15,000 cubic feet) or without basement (cubic feet: 12,000). The living area of this home is 768 square feet, plus 264 square feet for the carport.

This is a solidly built home. Its plan meets property and construction requirements of the FHA (Federal Housing Administration) and the electrical wiring called for is to follow the National Electrical Code for fire safety.
